Bringing the English Curriculum to Life David Didau, 2024-04-12 Bringing the English Curriculum to Life builds on David Didau's groundbreaking book Making Meaning in English by showing how the principles of the original book can be applied in schools and classrooms Drawing together experiences of designing teaching supporting and assessing English across the schools within Ormiston Academies Trust OAT this book demonstrates what an ambitious coherently sequenced broad and balanced English curriculum with successful adaption for students with SEND can look like in practice Designed around the explicit teaching of the powerful conceptual knowledge students need to master the discipline the book offers a fully resourced English curriculum packed with teaching suggestions and examples of high quality practice Covering intent implementation and assessment and outlining in detail what is included in each module for KS3 and 4 the curriculum can be adopted in its entirety but is also flexible enough for departments to take modules and slot them into their own curriculum Providing an inspiring model for teaching English that enables all students to succeed this is an essential resource for all English teachers and school leaders responsible for curriculum development

Learning to Teach History in the Secondary School Terry Haydn, Alison Stephen, James Arthur, Martin Hunt, 2014-10-10 An excellent companion to Learning to Teach in Secondary School full of good ideas and better advice Mentors will certainly want to use it and so I'm sure will the rest of the history department Make sure they buy one and keep your copy under lock and key Michael Duffy Times Educational Supplement A very well written and readable book Overall this is an excellent book and one which students and teachers outwith England would find a valuable addition to their library Scottish Association of Teachers of History Resources Review This book is without question the standard text for the history PGCE market Dr Ian Davies University of York on the first edition Learning to Teach History in the Secondary School provides an accessible introduction to teaching and learning history at secondary level Underpinned by a theoretical perspective and backed up by the latest research it encourages student teachers to develop a personal approach to teaching history This fourth edition has been thoroughly updated for the new curriculum with a brand new chapter on subject knowledge and a new section on action research to better support those reflecting on and developing their own practice It provides an array of references and materials that give a sound theoretical foundation for the teaching of history including weblinks to further resources while a range of tasks will enable students to put their learning into practice in the classroom Practical advice is combined with reference and access to a wide range of recent and relevant research in the field of history education to support Masters Level research and aid reflective practice Key issues covered include The benefits of learning history Planning The use of language and strategies for teaching Inclusion Technology in history teaching Assessment Continuing professional development Offering comprehensive and accessible support to becoming a history teacher this book remains an invaluable resource for all training and newly qualified history teachers

their removal from England's National Curriculum in 1988 and claims of elitism Latin and Greek are increasingly re-entering the mainstream educational arena Since 2012 there have been more students in state maintained schools in England studying classical subjects than in independent schools and the number of schools offering Classics continues to rise in the state maintained sector The teaching and learning of Latin and Greek is not however confined to the classroom community based learning for adults and children is facilitated in newly established regional Classics hubs in evenings and at weekends in universities as part of outreach and even in parks and in prisons This book investigates the motivations of teachers and learners behind the rise of Classics in the classroom and in communities and explores ways in which knowledge of classical languages is considered valuable for diverse learners in the 21st century The role of classical languages within the English educational policy landscape is examined as new possibilities exist for introducing Latin and Greek into school curricula The state of Classics education internationally is also investigated with case studies presenting the status quo in policy and practice from Australasia North America the rest of Europe and worldwide The priorities for the future of Classics education in these diverse locations are compared and contrasted by the editors who conjecture what strategies are conducive to success The Times Index, 2007 Indexes the Times and its supplements
