How to Think about Information Dan Schiller, 2024-04-22 It is common wisdom that the U.S. economy has adapted to losses in its manufacturing base because of the booming information sector with high paying jobs for everything from wireless networks to video games We are told we live in the Information Age in which communications networks and media and information services drive the larger economy While the Information Age may have looked sunny in the beginning as it has developed it looks increasingly ominous its economy and benefits grow more and more centralized and in the United States it has become less and less subject to democratic oversight Corporations around the world have identified the value of information and are now seeking to control its production transmission and consumption In How to Think about Information Dan Schiller explores the ways information has been increasingly commodified as a result and how it both resembles and differs from other commodities Through a linked series of theoretical historical and contemporary studies Schiller reveals this commodification as both dynamic and expansionary but also deeply conflicted and uncertain He examines the transformative political and economic changes occurring throughout the informational realm and analyzes key dimensions of the process including the buildup of new technological platforms the growth of a transnationalizing culture industry and the role played by China as it reinserts itself into an informationalized capitalism

Italian Crime Filmography, 1968-1980 Roberto Curti, 2013-11-05 In 1970s Italy after the decline of the Spaghetti Western crime films became the most popular profitable and controversial genre In a country plagued with violence political tensions and armed struggle these films managed to capture the anxiety and anger of the times in their tales of tough cops ruthless criminals and urban paranoia Recent years have seen renewed critical interest in the genre thanks in part to such illustrious fans as Quentin Tarantino This book examines all of the 220 crime films produced in Italy between 1968 and 1980 the period when the genre first appeared and grew to its peak Entries include a complete cast and
