Eather, Drew Cottle, Nic Maclelland, Jonathan Strauss, Michael Hamel-Green, Jeanette Debney-Joyce, Doris LeRoy, David Faber, 2015-02-15 These proceedings carry some of the papers delivered at the 14th Biennial Labour History Conference 11-13 February 2015 Titled Fighting Against War Peace Activism in the Twentieth Century the conference was held at the University of Melbourne A conference book of refereed papers has been published under that title and these proceedings

carry the non refereed papers received for publication There is one exception to that rule the paper written by Warwick Eather and Drew Cottle published below which underwent double blind refereeing It is an important paper which demonstrates with compelling evidence that the rabbit was anything but a curse to the many men women and children who took advantage of the rabbit industry s resilience during the economic storms for much of the twentieth century It exemplifies how meticulous research in labour history can provide an entirely new understanding of an otherwise much maligned animal in Australia The next three papers all concern opposition to nuclear testing from the 1950s to the 1980s When read together they provide a convincing argument for the importance and efficacy of the diverse anti nuclear movements in Australia New Zealand and the Pacific Islands Whilst there are inevitable overlaps these papers emphasise different and often neglected dimensions the struggle for recognition of and compensation for the devastating effects of nuclear testing the internal dynamics of the various nuclear disarmament organisations and an evaluation of their impact on government policy culminating in the Rarotonga Treaty of 1985 The last three papers cover aspects of World War I the Cold War and the Vietnam War The first focuses on the role of one redoubtable woman Ettie Rout in challenging popular misconceptions about venereal disease held by military authorities and the soldiers themselves The next paper examines the life of a Czech Lutheran pastor Professor Josef Hrom dka who visited Australia twice during the 1950s Hrom dka attempted to juggle Christianity with Socialism which in the prevailing climate of strident anti communism provoked hostile receptions and Cold War invective The final paper in this collection brings to life through the reflections of a participant observer the preparations conduct and impact of Adelaide s largest anti war demonstration the protest against the invasion of Iraq in 2003 organised by the NoWar collective Its efforts undertaken by a broad range of rank and file activists is a fitting reminder and exemplar of the theme of our conference peace activism in the twentieth century

The book is one of the first to focus on responsible leadership in the contemporary Asian century context. It adopts a unique context-driven social innovation-based responsible leadership approach to explain how context can impact and shape the theory and practice of responsible leadership. This unique work will strongly appeal to a broad spectrum of researchers and scholars across disciplines with a particular interest in the interplay between leadership responsibility and ethics. As Asia's influence on the global economy continues to grow in the Asian Century, this book offers a culturally integrated view of how the shift in economic power to Asia and the rising new global economic order can influence the theory and practice of responsible leadership. The book focuses particularly on the Asian century opportunities and challenges as a strong contextual factor that shapes the responsibility of responsible leadership. The scholarly literature on the topic, the case studies developed through interviews and secondary data, and author's corporate experiences in the Asia Pacific region in leading organisations are key sources for the book's assertions. It fills an important gap in the literature on how Asian cultural factors might influence the predominantly Western-developed responsible leadership theory and practice. This book covers key topics including the moral basis for responsibility theory and practice of responsible leadership, Asian challenges to responsible leadership, and socially innovative responsible leadership. Fernando's book provides a fresh and novel perspective on how evolutionary changes in economic power between Asia and the rest of the world undoubtedly will affect the practice of responsible leadership. He examines varying views on responsible leadership across cultures, demonstrating how Asian and Western leadership styles have evolved as our economy continues to become more globally integrated. Prof. Laura Pincus Hartman, Director, Susilo Institute for Ethics in the Global Economy, Boston University Questrom School of Business, Boston, USA. There is little doubt that this is the Asian Century and that economic and political influences from the east will increase. But so too may cultural, ethical, and even religious influences. It is therefore important that researchers understand these significant changes. In this book, Mario Fernando gives us an insight into what this means for responsible leadership. It is primarily an excellent work of scholarship written for academics who teach and research in this area by someone who knows Asian business and culture from the inside. But it will also reward careful study by practicing leaders and those who are the potential leaders of the future. Professor of Business Ethics, Geoff

Mobility between Africa, Asia and Latin America Ute

Röschenthaler, Alessandro Jedlowski, 2017-08-15 Trade connections and cultural exchange between Africa and the rest of the global South have existed for centuries Since the end of the Cold War these connections have expanded and diversified dramatically with emerging economies such as China India and Brazil becoming increasingly important both as sources of trade and as a destination for African migrants But while these trends have attracted growing scholarly attention there has so far been little appreciation of the sheer breadth and variety of this exchange or of its deeper social impact This collection brings together a wide array of scholarly perspectives to explore the movement of people commodities and ideas between Africa and the wider global South with rich empirical case studies ranging from Senegalese migrants in Argentina to Lebanese traders in Nigeria The contributors argue that this exchange represents a form of globalization from below which defies many of the prevailing Western assumptions about migration and development and which can only be understood if we consider the full range and complexity of migrant experiences Multidisciplinary in scope Mobility between Africa Asia and Latin America is essential reading for students and scholars across the social sciences interested in the interconnected economic and social make up of the global South
