Technologies in Biomedical and Life Sciences Education Harry J. Witchel, Michael W. Lee, 2022-06-24 This contributed volume focuses on understanding the educational strengths and weaknesses of mediated content including media as a learning supplement in comparison to traditional face to face learning Each chapter includes research on and a broad brush summary of approaches to combining life sciences education with educational technologies The chapters are organized into four main sections each of which focuses on a key question regarding the consequences of incorporating media into education In this regard the authors highlight how educational technology is both a bridge and barrier to student access and inclusivity Further they address the ongoing discussion as to whether students need to be present for lectures and on how having agency in their own learning can improve both retention and conceptual understanding To link the content to current events the authors also shed light on the impact that the COVID 19 pandemic is having on the continuity of educational programs and on the growing importance of educational technologies Consequently the book offers life science educators valuable guidance on the technologies already available and an outlook on what is yet to come Making Sense of Learning Norman Reid, Asma Amanat Ali, 2020-08-25 This textbook brings together findings from global research on teaching and learning with an emphasis on secondary and higher education The book is unique in that the content is selected in an original way and its presentation reflects the most recent research evidence related to understanding The book covers and presents themes that are based tightly on worldwide research evidence scrupulously avoiding opinion or any dependence on the personal experience of the authors The book starts by reflecting on educational research itself The four chapters that follow relate the story of the research that shows how all humans learn and the variations within that framework These chapters offer a tight framework that underpins much of the rest of the text The next four chapters look at the way school curricula are organised and how the performance of learners can be assessed They summarise the research evidence related to thinking skills and consider the importance of practical teaching This is followed by two chapters that draw from the extensive social psychology research on attitude development as it applies in education and then by two chapters that summarise the research related to major issues of controversy the performativity agenda and the issue of quality One chapter looks at the place of statistics in education The next two chapters look at the evidence that can support or undermine many typical education beliefs or myths and mirages Finally the last chapter brings it all together and looks into the future pointing to some areas where future research is likely to be helpful based on current knowledge

Implementing Cross-Culture Pedagogies Pham Thi Hong Thanh, 2013-11-27 During the last two decades Confucian heritage culture countries have widely promoted teaching and learning reforms to advance their educational systems To skip the painfully long research stage Confucian heritage culture educators have borrowed Western philosophies and practices with the assumption that what has been done successfully in the West will produce similar outcomes in the East The wide importation of cooperative learning practices to Confucian heritage culture classrooms recently is an example However cooperative learning has been documented in many studies not to work effectively in Confucian heritage culture classrooms The reason is that the educators often impose this instructional method on the students without a careful consideration of its appropriateness in the socio cultural context of Confucian heritage culture countries This procedure is not effective and professional because learning does not stand alone Rather it is shaped and influenced by other factors including teaching methods learning tasks assessment demands workload and the learning culture of students in the local context For cooperative learning to work effectively in Confucian heritage culture classrooms reformers need to consider the importation of this approach in line with a careful examination of all supports and constraints that affect those factors that are associated with learning The volume provides an applied theoretical framework and culturally appropriate and practical instructions that could assist Confucian heritage culture educators and teachers to address various factors at multiple levels in order to optimize success in importing cooperative learning to their classrooms Overall it provides strategies to assist Confucian heritage culture teachers to change their teaching practices redesign lessons plans design assessment methods and organize learning activities in a manner that can influence Confucian heritage culture students to shift from employing teacher centered learning approaches to cooperative learning
