During the half century preceding widespread school integration black North Carolinians engaged in a dramatic struggle for equal educational opportunity as segregated schooling flourished Drawing on archival records and oral histories Sarah Thuesen gives voice to students parents teachers school officials and civic leaders to reconstruct this high stakes drama She explores how African Americans pressed for equality in curricula higher education teacher salaries and school facilities how white officials co opted equalization as a means of forestalling integration and finally how black activism for equality evolved into a fight for something greater than equal integrated schools that served as models of civic inclusion These battles persisted into the Brown era mobilized black communities narrowed material disparities fostered black school pride and profoundly shaped the eventual movement for desegregation Thuesen emphasizes that the remarkable achievements of this activism should not obscure the inherent limitations of a fight for equality in a segregated society In fact these unresolved struggles are emblematic of fault lines that developed across the South and serve as an urgent reminder of the inextricable connections between educational equality racial diversity and the achievement of first class citizenship Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow Roslyn Arlin Mickelson, Stephen Samuel Smith, Amy Hawn Nelson, 2017-11-14 Yesterday Today and Tomorrow provides a compelling analysis of the forces and choices that have shaped the trend toward the resegregation of public schools By assembling a wide range of contributors historians sociologists economists and education scholars the editors provide a comprehensive view of a community s experience with desegregation and economic development Here we see resegregation through the lens of Charlotte North Carolina once a national model of successful desegregation and home of the landmark Swann desegregation case which gave rise to school busing This book recounts the last forty years of Charlotte s desegregation and resegregation putting education reform in political and economic context Within a decade of the Swann case the district had developed one of the nation s most successful desegregation plans measured by racial balance and improved academic outcomes for both black and white students However beginning in the 1990s this plan was gradually dismantled Today the level of resegregation in Charlotte has almost returned to what it was prior to 1971 At the core of Charlotte s story is the relationship between social structure and human agency with an emphasis on how yesterday s decisions and actions define today s choices Disability Rights and Religious Liberty in Education Bruce J.

Dierenfield, David A. Gerber, 2020-07-06 In 1988 Sandi and Larry Zobrest sued a suburban Tucson Arizona school district that had denied their hearing impaired son a taxpayer funded interpreter in his Roman Catholic high school The Catalina Foothills School District argued that providing a public resource for a private religious school created an unlawful crossover between church and state The Zobrests however claimed that the district had infringed on both their First Amendment right to freedom of religion and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act IDEA Bruce J Dierenfield and David A Gerber use the Zobrests story to examine the complex history and jurisprudence of disability accommodation and educational mainstreaming They look at the family s effort to acquire educational resources for their son starting in early childhood and the choices the

Zobrests made to prepare him for life in the hearing world rather than the deaf community Dierenfield and Gerber also analyze the thorny church state issues and legal controversies that informed the case its journey to the U S Supreme Court and the impact of the high court s ruling on the course of disability accommodation and religious liberty

Winford, 2019-12-09 WINNER OF THE LILLIAN SMITH BOOK AWARD John Hervey Wheeler 1908 1978 was one of the civil rights movement s most influential leaders In articulating a bold vision of regional prosperity grounded in full citizenship and economic power for African Americans this banker lawyer and visionary would play a key role in the fight for racial and economic equality throughout North Carolina Utilizing previously unexamined sources from the John Hervey Wheeler Collection at the Atlanta University Center Robert W Woodruff Library this biography explores the black freedom struggle through the life of North Carolina s most influential black power broker After graduating from Morehouse College Wheeler returned to Durham and began a decades long career at Mechanics and Farmers M F Bank He started as a teller and rose to become bank president in 1952

In 1961 President Kennedy appointed Wheeler to the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity a position in which he championed equal rights for African Americans and worked with Vice President Johnson to draft civil rights legislation. One of the first blacks to attain a high position in the state's Democratic Party, Wheeler became the state party's treasurer in 1968 and then its financial director. Growing into Resilience André P. Grace, 2015-01-01 Despite recent progress in civil rights for sexual and gender minorities, SGM ensuring SGM youth experience fairness, justice, inclusion, safety, and security in their schools and communities remains an ongoing challenge. In Growing into Resilience, André P. Grace and Kristopher Wells, co-founders of Camp fYrefly, a summer leadership camp for SGM youth, investigate how teachers, healthcare workers, and other professionals can help SGM youth build the human and material assets that will empower them to be happy, healthy, and resilient. Rightlessness A. Naomi Paik, 2016-01-08 In this bold book, A. Naomi Paik grapples with the history of U.S. prison camps that have confined people outside the boundaries of legal and civil rights. Removed from the social and political communities that would guarantee fundamental legal protections, these detainees are effectively rightless, stripped of the right even to have rights. Rightless people thus expose an essential paradox: while the United States purports to champion inalienable rights at home and internationally, it has built its global power in part by creating a regime of imprisonment that places certain populations perceived as threats beyond rights. The United States' status as the guardian of rights coincides with, indeed depends on, its creation of rightlessness. Yet rightless people are not silent. Drawing from an expansive testimonial archive of legal proceedings, truth commission records, poetry, and experimental video, Paik shows how rightless people use their imprisonment to protest U.S. state violence. She examines demands for redress by Japanese Americans interned during World War II, testimonies of HIV-positive Haitian refugees detained at Guantánamo in the early 1990s, and appeals by Guantánamo's enemy combatants from the War on Terror. In doing so, she reveals a powerful ongoing contest over the nature and meaning of the law over civil liberties and global human rights and over the power of the state in people's lives Education Policy and Racial Biopolitics in Multicultural Cities Kalervo N. Gulson, P. Taylor Webb, 2017-07-26 The empirical focus of this book is on the twenty year struggle by parents and members of the Black community in Toronto to introduce an Africentric Alternative School AAS with Black focused curricula. It brings together a seemingly disparate series of events that emerged from equity and multicultural narratives about the establishment of the school, violence, anti-racism and race-based statistics, policy, entrepreneurs and the re-birth of alternative schools in Toronto to illustrate how these events ostensibly functioned through neoliberal choice mechanisms and practices. Gulson and Webb show how school choice can represent and manifest the hopes and fears, contestations and settlements of contemporary racial biopolitics of education in multicultural cities.

Parenting and the State in Britain and Europe, c. 1870-1950 Hester Barron, Claudia Siebrecht, 2016-12-29 This innovative collection draws on original research to explore the dynamic interactions between parents, governments and their representatives across a range of European contexts from democratic Britain and Finland to Stalinist Russia and Fascist Italy. The authors pay close attention to the various relationships and dynamics between parents and the state, showing that the different parties were defined not solely by coercion or manipulation but also by collaboration and negotiation. Parents were not passive recipients of government direction; rituals and cultures of parenting could both affirm and undermine state politics. Readers will find this collection crucial to understanding family life and the role of the state during a period when both underwent significant change.
