Arthur, 2015-07-08 Excerpt from Lovers and Husbands A Story of Married Life Two maidens sat in earnest conversation one quiet afternoon in October near the window of a tasteful cottage which looked out upon a gently declining lawn encircled by elms that still retained their thick foliage Beyond this lawn was a dense wood gayly attired in its many coloured autumn robes The rays of the setting sun fell broad and unobstructed upon the bosom of this forest lending to each gaudy leaf or to the half revealed silvery branches and trunks of the trees a glittering lustre that dazzled the eye See Flora said one of the maidens suddenly interrupting their conversation and glancing out of the window as she spoke is there anything in nature more beautiful than an autumn sunset Nothing returned her companion half abstractedly as her eyes followed the direction of her companion s Then speaking with a sudden animation inspired by the scene she added Beautiful very beautiful About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Lovers and Husbands T.
