

ENDOCRINE SYSTEM

Endocrine System: WORKING TOGETHER

Each organ system works on other systems within the body to do its "job". See below to learn just some of the ways that the endocrine system interacts with other organ systems.

Nervous System

Circulatory System

Endocrine System: FACTS

Endocrine System: PROBLEMS

Most of the time, the endocrine system works perfectly well. However, sometimes problems can arise.

Diabetes

Diabetes is a condition that causes high blood glucose (sugar) levels. It is caused by the body being unable to either produce or use the hormone insulin. So, the glucose in the blood gets stuck or "stuck". Symptoms include increased thirst, weight gain, changes in vision, frequent urination, increased hunger, mood swings, and changes in weight. Symptoms can also include slow wound healing, frequent infections, and changes in the shape of the hands and feet.

Endocrine System: KEY TERMS

Term	Definition
Endocrine System	Network of endocrine glands that make, store, and release hormones.
Hormones	Chemical messengers that carry information and instructions from one cell to another.

Endocrine System: HORMONES

Hormones are chemical signals. Hormones are released by a gland and travel in the blood to a target cell. When it gets there, it tells the target cell to do something. Hormones can be made by the endocrine system or by other parts of the body.

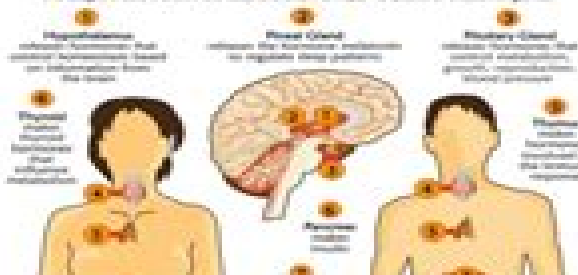

Endocrine System: FIGHT-OR-FLIGHT

The fight-or-flight response is a reaction that occurs in the body when you are really frightened. The brain (specifically the hypothalamus) tells the adrenal glands to release the hormone adrenaline. Adrenaline makes your heart beat faster, your breathing faster, and your muscles tense up. This helps you to react quickly to a dangerous situation. In addition, the body's response to stress prepares you to deal with the danger.

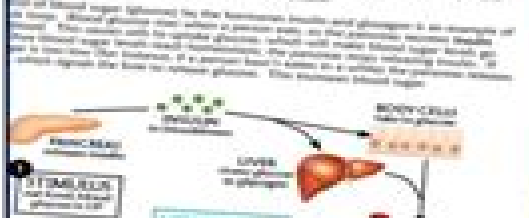

Endocrine System: GLANDS

A gland is a structure that produces and releases substances that perform a specific function in the body. There are two types of glands: endocrine glands and exocrine glands. Endocrine glands release hormones into the bloodstream. Exocrine glands release substances into a duct or onto the surface of the body. Some glands, like the pancreas, have both endocrine and exocrine functions.

Endocrine System: FEEDBACK LOOPS

Endocrine activities are regulated by complex feedback loops. These feedback loops help the body maintain a balance. When a hormone level is too high or too low, the body sends a signal to the glands to produce more or less of that hormone. This signal is called a feedback loop. The feedback loop helps the body to stay healthy.
