

These results suggest that the use of a single, non-validated questionnaire to assess the prevalence of mental health problems in the community may be inappropriate. The use of a validated questionnaire, such as the GHQ-12, may be more appropriate for the purpose of identifying mental health problems in the community. The use of a validated questionnaire may also be more appropriate for the purpose of identifying mental health problems in the community.

1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem or issue that needs to be addressed. This involves gathering information and understanding the context of the problem.
