Questioning the Entrepreneurial State Karl Wennberg, Christian Sandström, 2022-04-23 The 2008 financial crisis and the COVID 19 pandemic have made the authorities to increasingly turn inward and use ethnocentrism protectionism and top down approaches to guide policy on trade competition and industrial development The continuing aftereffects of such policies range from the rise and seeming success of authoritarian states rise of populist and protectionist trends and evolving academic agendas inspiring the reemergence of top down industrial policies across the world This open access edited volume contains contributions from over 30 scholars with expertise in economics innovation management and economic history The chapters offer unique theoretical and empirical contributions discussing topics such as how industrial policies affect risk incentives and information for investments They also address the policy perspectives on new technologies such as AI and its implications for market entry the role for independent entrepreneurship in increasingly regulated markets and whether governments should focus on market interventions or institutional capacity building Questioning the Entrepreneurial State initiates a much sought after debate on the notion of an Entrepreneurial State It discusses the dangers of top down approaches to industrial policy examines lessons from such approaches for future policy design and calls attention to the progress of open and contestable markets in a sound economy and society Creative destruction innovation and entrepreneurship are at the core of economic growth The government has a clear role to provide the basic fabric of a dynamic society but industrial policy and state owned companies are the boulevard of broken dreams and unrealized visions This important message is convincingly stated in Questioning the Entrepreneurial State Anders Borg former Minister of Finance Sweden Misreading the dynamism of American entrepreneurship European intellectuals and policy makers have embraced a dangerous fantasy catching up requires constructing an entrepreneurial state This book provides a vital antidote The entrepreneur comes first The state may support It cannot lead Amar Bhid Thomas Schmidheiny Professor of International Business Tufts University This important new book subjects the emergence of the entrepreneurial state which reflects a shift in the locus of entrepreneurship from the individual to the public sector to the scrutiny of rigorous analysis The resulting concerns flaws and biases inherent in the entrepreneurial state exposed are both alarming and sobering The skill and scholarly craftsmanship brought to bear in this crucial analysis is evident throughout the book along with the even but ultimately consequential thinking of the authors A must read for researchers and thought leaders in business and policy David Audtretsch Distinguished Professor Ameritech Chair of Economic Development Indiana University The Parent Trap Nate G. Hilger, 2023-04-04 How parents have been set up to fail and why helping them succeed is the key to achieving a fair and prosperous society Few people realize that raising children is the single largest industry in the United States Yet this vital work receives little political support and its primary workers parents labor in isolation If they ask for help they are made to feel inadequate there is no centralized organization to represent their interests and there is virtually nothing spent on research and development to help them achieve their goals It s almost as if parents are set up to fail and the result is lost opportunities that limit children s success and make us all worse off In The Parent Trap Nate Hilger combines cutting edge social science research revealing historical case studies and on the ground investigation to recast parenting as the hidden crucible of inequality Parents are expected not only to care for their children but to help them develop the skills they will need to thrive in today s socioeconomic reality but most parents including even the most caring parents on the planet are not trained in skill development and lack the resources to get help How do we fix this The solution Hilger argues is to ask less of parents not more America should consider child development a public investment with a monumental payoff We need a program like Medicare call it Familycare to drive this investment To make it happen parents need to organize to wield their political power on behalf of children who will always be the largest bloc of disenfranchised people in this country The Parent Trap exposes the true costs of our society's unrealistic expectations around parenting and lays out a profoundly hopeful blueprint for reform

A Dream Defaulted Jason N. Houle, Fenaba R. Addo, 2022-08-16 A Dream Defaulted explores how the student loan crisis disproportionately affects Black borrowers and why rising student debt is both a cause and consequence of social inequality in the United States Jason N Houle and Fenaba R Addo offer a deft analysis of the growing financial crisis in education examining its sources and its impacts Based on more than five years of ongoing qualitative and quantitative research this incisive work illustrates how the student loan system has not benefited all students equally The authors tell the story of how first generation college students low income students and students of color are disadvantaged in two opposing phases of the process debt accumulation and debt repayment They further demonstrate that policies intended to mitigate financial burden and prevent default have failed to assist the people who most need help Houle and Addo present these social and racial disparities within a broader context tracing how centuries of institutionalized racism have contributed to social and economic inequities perpetuating the racial wealth gap and leading to intergenerational inequality Through interviews with borrowers they illuminate the ways in which racial disparities affect who has college access how and why people take on debt and who has the ability to repay student loan debt after leaving college Recognizing that the affordability crisis cannot be solved by higher education reform alone Houle and Addo consider solutions They argue that policy must extend beyond debt reduction and financial aid to address entrenched patterns of racial inequality and racial discrimination both inside and outside institutions of higher education
