Leading Change in Your School Douglas B. Reeves, 2009-04-14 Guiding schools through significant change is one of the toughest challenges educational leaders face but learning from the examples of those who have succeeded can make it less daunting In Leading Change in Your School distinguished author and researcher Douglas B Reeves offers lessons learned through his work with educators in thousands of schools around the world and presents real life examples of leaders who have met the challenge of change head on with impressive results for their schools and districts Readers will also find practical resources for engaging their colleagues in change initiatives Expanding on a number of his columns in the journal Educational Leadership Reeves offers insights and recommendations in four areas Creating conditions for change including assessments to determine personal and organizational readiness for change Planning change including cautionary notes about strategic planning Implementing change including the importance of moving from rhetoric to day to day reality and Sustaining change including the need to reorient priorities and values so that individual convenience gives way to a shared sense of the greater good The change leaders both teachers and administrators whose stories Reeves tells come from varied districts but they share a passion for creating schools that work for all students They are Reeves says people like you sharing similar challenges but perhaps with different results Private Secondary Schools 2014-2015 Peterson's, 2014-01-09

on a large scale international study of teachers in Los Angeles Chicago Ontario and New York this book illustrates the ways increased use of high stakes standardized testing is fundamentally changing education in the US and Canada with a negative overall impact on the way teachers teach and students learn Standardized testing makes understanding students strengths and weaknesses more difficult and class time spent on testing consumes scarce time and attention needed to support the success of all students further disadvantaging ELLs students with exceptionalities low income and racially minoritized students

Most Likely to Succeed Tony Wagner, Ted Dintersmith, 2015-08-18 An urgent call for the radical re imagining of American education so that we better equip students for the realities of the twenty first century Life by Algorithms

Catherine Besteman, Hugh Gusterson, 2019-05-23 Essays on the downsides dysfunctions and dangers of automated decision making An excellent survey of the algorithmically managed life Choice The phone systems that businesses use to screen calls The link between student standardized test scores and public schools access to resources The algorithms that regulate patient diagnoses and reimbursements to doctors The impenetrable corporate bureaucracy that can drive customers in need of help up the wall or drive them to suicide The storage sorting and analysis of massive amounts of information have enabled the automation of decision making at an unprecedented level Meanwhile computers have offered a model of cognition that increasingly shapes our approach to the world The proliferation of roboprocesses is the result as editors Catherine Besteman and Hugh Gusterson observe in this rich and wide ranging volume which features contributions from a distinguished cast of scholars in anthropology communications international studies and political science Though automatic processes are designed to be engines of rational systems the stories in Life by Algorithms reveal how they can in fact produce absurd inflexible or even dangerous outcomes Joining the call for algorithmic transparency the contributors bring exceptional sensitivity to everyday sociality into their critique to better understand how the perils of modern technology affect finance medicine education housing the workplace food production public space and emotions not as separate problems but as linked manifestations of a deeper defect in the fundamental ordering of our society The Machine Stops E M Forster s 1909 science fiction story tells the tale of a human society collapsing when the technology upon which it has become dependent fails Think of this volume as The Machine Starts a collection of unsettling ethnographic accounts of the rise of algorithmic governance A necessary and sobering call to arms Stefan Helmreich Massachusetts Institute of Technology Contributors include Catherine Besteman Alex Blanchette Robert W Gehl Hugh Gusterson Catherine Lutz Ann Lutz Fernandez Joseph Masco Sally Engle Merry Keesha M Middlemass Noelle Stout Susan J Terrio Critical Conversations Tom Gilson, 2016-02-27 Christian parents need to be prepared to answer the myriad challenges teens might hear in today s increasingly pro homosexual culture Why shouldn t gays get married Who says gay sex is wrong Does the Bible actually say there s anything wrong with homosexuality Don t you care that kids are being bullied just for being themselves To start the discussion Gilson provides a brief history of the issues beginning with the sexual revolution of the 1960s He explains how and why cultural attitudes have reversed on this subject in such a short timespan leaving Christians scrambling for answers This is perhaps the most complicated and contentious issue Christians face in today s culture Most churches are poorly equipped to handle it parents are even less prepared The good news is that parents need not have pat answers ready before they dive into conversations with their teens and preteens on this difficult topic Learning together parents struggling through these issues alongside their kids and leading them to biblical answers has relational benefits Answers are important though so manageable nontechnical answers to common questions surrounding this issue are provided as well as a guide to further resources The Fate of Liberal Arts in Today's Schools and Colleges William Hayes, 2015-12-11 It is the purpose of this book to examine the ever changing meaning of the term liberal arts and to trace its development from antiquity to the present In doing so the text will compare and contrast the values of such an education with the other important objective of schools and colleges which is to prepare students with appropriate occupational training The book will highlight the arguments of both points of view In doing so attention will be paid to the contributions to society of those who have been exposed to a variety of educational curricula As part of the study the impact of the community college will be considered along with the impact of recent initiatives such as the Nation at Risk Report No Child Left Behind Race to the Top and the Common Core Finally the text will conclude with an attempt to suggest the direction that will determine the fate of liberal arts in schools and colleges

Bounded Rationality in Decision Making Under Uncertainty: Towards Optimal Granularity Joe Lorkowski, Vladik Kreinovich, 2017-07-01 This book addresses an intriguing question are our decisions rational It explains seemingly irrational human decision making behavior by taking into account our limited ability to process information It also shows with several examples that optimization under granularity restriction leads to observed human decision making Drawing on the Nobel prize winning studies by Kahneman and Tversky researchers have found many examples of seemingly irrational decisions e g we overestimate the probability of rare events Our explanation is that since human abilities to process information are limited we operate not with the exact values of relevant quantities but with granules that contain these values We show that optimization under such granularity indeed leads to observed human behavior In particular for the first time we explain the mysterious empirical dependence of betting odds on actual probabilities This book can be recommended to all students interested in human decision making to researchers whose work involves human decisions and to practitioners who design and employ systems involving human decision making so that they can better utilize our ability to make decisions under uncertainty

On My Own Xueli Wang, 2021-02-18 2020 ASHE Council for the Advancement of Higher Education Programs CAHEP Barbara Townsend Lecture Award 2021 Transfer Champion Catalyst Award from the National Institute for the Study of Transfer Students NISTS 2021 Outstanding Publication Award AERA Division J Publication and Research On My Own The Challenge and Promise of Building Equitable STEM Transfer Pathways is the first book of its kind to provide a detailed on the ground examination of the difficult paths curricular interpersonal and institutional that students must chart through community college The book follows 1 670 two year college students over four years as they begin STEM programs in the Midwest and documents their educational and life experiences as they moved toward or away from the prospect of transfer to a four year institution Their stories reveal that they were on their own left to navigate the pathways to transfer without meaningful institutional support The students pursued one of four pathways or momentum trajectories linear upward detoured deferred or taking a break The preexisting and lasting disparities in their access to education and financial resources their experiences with teaching and advising and the conundrum between support from and for family among others propelled them onto different trajectories in their quest for transfer As this book makes painfully clear the current state of transfer acts as a mechanism that perpetuates and worsens inequities in educational outcomes As Xueli Wang argues to cultivate an equitable STEM transfer pathway culturally relevant and responsive supports that are accessible welcoming and validating must be put in place at the institutional level and appeal to the talent motivation and unique needs of historically marginalized students In doing so postsecondary institutions will be better positioned to fulfill their promise as an equitable pathway to bachelor s degrees and beyond
