They adapted well to the new lands. As a result they began to reproduce and run wild. Conflicts arose because they harmed crops by eating and walking on them.

Some Indigenous peoples found horses useful. Horses made it easy to hunt Bison. These large-headed animals were an important source of food, clothing, and other things for some Indigenous peoples. However, hunting on horseback was one of the factors that caused Bison numbers to drop.

People also brought plants across the ocean. This affected both the Old and New Worlds during the Columbian Exchange. In the Old World, it led to less hunger and better nutrition. As a result, Europe's population increased. Potatoes had an especially big effect on life in Europe. When combined with better, or more, potatoes have many health benefits. Therefore, they became an important part of many Old World diets.

Corn also had a major impact on the Old World. It grows well in some places where crops such as potatoes and wheat do not. Corn was a type of food that had a similar effect in Africa. It provided many people with a healthy source of food which caused a population increase. Other New World crops, including chili peppers, tomatoes, and vanilla, led to changes in food flavors across the Old World.
