Making Spaces through Infrastructure Marian Burchardt, Dirk Laak, 2023-07-04 Infrastructures are fundamental means through which societies create spaces but little is known about the precise ways in which this occurs How have infrastructures animated certain understandings of space How do infrastructures stabilize or undermine the spatial formats in which we live which shape our everyday practices and which regulate access to services and resources And conversely how do spaces frame the ways infrastructural provision is organized How do existing spaces shape infrastructural development and the scope and forms of access to vital services such as transport and water In this volume historians and sociologists draw on a range of fascinating case studies and provide compelling answers to these questions Exploring among others the provision of irrigation water in nineteenth century Los Angeles the invention of airport transit zones and the infrastructural practices of homeless people in Berlin the book demonstrates how the making of spaces through infrastructure is deeply political Intent on revealing uneven geographies of provision and hierarchies of access the contributors highlight how infrastructures are products of global entanglements Equity and Excellence in American

Higher Education William G. Bowen, Martin A. Kurzweil, Eugene M. Tobin, Susanne C. Pichler, 2007 Thomas Jefferson once stated that the foremost goal of American education must be to nurture the natural aristocracy of talent and virtue Although in many ways American higher education has fulfilled Jefferson's vision by achieving a widespread level of excellence it has not achieved the objective of equity implicit in Jefferson's statement In Equity and Excellence in American Higher Education William G. Bowen, Martin A. Kurzweil and Eugene M. Tobin explore the cause for this divide Employing historical research examination of the most recent social science and public policy scholarship international comparisons and detailed empirical analysis of rich new data the authors study the intersection between excellence and equity objectives Beginning with a time line tracing efforts to achieve equity and excellence in higher education from the American Revolution to the early Cold War years this narrative reveals the halting episodic progress in broadening access across the dividing lines of gender race religion ethnicity and socioeconomic status The authors argue that despite our rhetoric of inclusiveness a significant number of youth from poor families do not share equal access to America's elite colleges and universities While America has achieved the highest level of educational attainment of any country it runs the risk of losing this position unless it can markedly improve the precollegiate preparation of students from racial minorities and lower income families After identifying the equity problem at the national level and studying nineteen selective colleges and universities the authors propose a set of potential actions to be taken at federal state local and institutional levels With recommendations ranging from reform of the admissions process to restructuring of federal financial aid and state support of public universities to addressing the various precollegiate obstacles that disadvantaged students face at home and in school the authors urge all selective colleges and universities to continue race sensitive admissions policies while urging the most selective and privileged institutions to enroll more well qualified students from families with low socioeconomic status

Terrorism in America Robin Maria Valeri, Kevin Borgeson, 2018-05-11 Offering a fresh perspective on the changing face of terror attacks Terrorism in America focuses on domestic groups examining the beliefs actions and impacts of American based terrorists and terror organizations Editors Robin Valeri and Kevin Borgeson and their contributors draw on theories from criminology psychology and sociology to explore the ideologies of right wing left wing and extremist religious groups how and why they convert followers recruit financially and take extreme action against others No competing text offers such in depth and nuanced coverage of the radical ideologies behind these attacks or the ensuing fear domestic terrorism creates as well as the strategies to combat violent extremism A core text for domestic terrorism courses and an excellent supplement for any counterterrorism or homeland security course Terrorism in America brings its singular focus to the growth and evolution of terrorism in the United States Interviews case studies from the field and chapter themes make this a highly readable text for criminal justice psychology sociology and homeland security students professors or practitioners

Polanyi in times of populism Christopher Holmes, 2018-04-17 The rise of populism across Europe and the US first in the wake of the 2008 global financial crisis and then in the shape of Donald Trump's presidential campaign and the Brexit vote in 2016 are indicative of a seismic shift in the terrain of economic ideas in public discourse. Settled liberal norms concerning ever increasing international market expansion and the political integration required to sustain it have been decisively upset by political forces that whilst once on the fringes now dominate economic debate. How might we make sense of this ideological breakdown and what might we hope for next? This book turns to the work of Karl Polanyi for answers, developing the expansive historicised approach to political economy that Polanyi pioneered. Holmes provides a wide ranging history of economic ideas read in terms of a series of hopeful theoretical visions of order in which political, social and ecological contradictions could be transcended in one way or another. Through this the book demonstrates that the failing utopian visions of pre 2008 economic orthodoxy which have formed the backdrop to the rise of populism today are only the latest in a series that stretches across economic thought in Western modernity as a whole. This book will interest students and scholars of IPE, political science, sociology, anthropology, law and history.

The Routledge Handbook of World Englishes Andy Kirkpatrick, 2020-12-31. The Routledge Handbook of World Englishes constitutes a comprehensive introduction to the study of World Englishes. Split into six sections with 40 contributions, this Handbook discusses how English is operating in a wide range of fields from business to popular culture and from education to new literatures in English and its increasing role as an international lingua franca. Bringing together more than 40 of the world's leading scholars in World Englishes, the sections cover historical perspectives, regional varieties of English from across the world, recent and emerging trends and the pedagogical implications and the future of Englishes. The Handbook provides a thorough and updated overview of the field, taking into account the new directions in which the discipline is heading. This second edition includes up to date descriptions of a wide range of varieties of English and how these reflect the cultures of their new users, including new chapters on varieties in Bangladesh, Uganda, the Maldives and South Africa, as well as covering hot topics such as translanguaging and English after Brexit. With a new substantial introduction from the editor, the Handbook is an ideal resource for students of applied linguistics as well as those in related degrees such as applied English language and TESOL/TEFL.

Ardeth #12 AA.VV., 2024-03-06. In the backdrop of the New European Bauhaus, our time presents the European designer with three pivotal keywords: beautiful, sustainable and together. The central question that this issue of Ardeth seeks to address is how to employ these three keywords in the best possible way. In essence, it grapples with the question of how to use but not abuse the checkpoints they provide us with to truly grasp the intricacies of their intended applications. The aim is to prevent hastening the transition from words to designs and ultimately from designs to the artefacts that make up the space of our day to day human existence.
