

ENDOCRINE SYSTEM

Endocrine System: WORKING TOGETHER

Each organ system works on other systems within the body to do its "job". Our bodies learn just some of the ways that the endocrine system interacts with other organ systems.

Nervous System

Circulatory System

Endocrine System: FACTS

Endocrine System: PROBLEMS

Most of the time, the endocrine system works perfectly well. However, sometimes problems can arise.

Diabetes

Diabetes is a condition that causes high blood glucose (sugar) levels. It is caused by the body being unable to either produce or use the hormone insulin. So, the glucose in the blood gets stuck or "stuck" in the blood. Symptoms include increased thirst, weight gain, changes in vision, increased weight changes, persistent sores, numbness or tingling in the hands.

Endocrine System: KEY TERMS

Term	Definition
Endocrine System	Network of endocrine glands that make, store, and release hormones.
Hormones	Chemical messengers that carry information and instructions from one cell to another.

Endocrine System: HORMONES

Hormones are chemical signals. Hormones are released by a gland and travel in the blood to a receptor. The receptor then sends a message to the target cell to do a specific action. Hormones are released by the endocrine system. The endocrine system is made up of glands that release hormones.

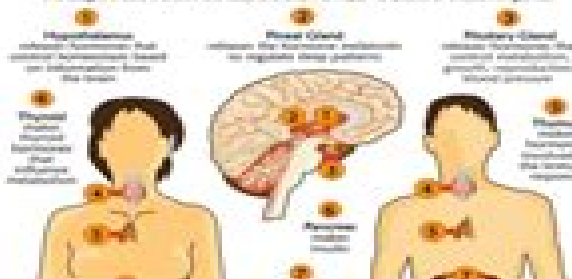

Endocrine System: FIGHT-OR-FLIGHT

The fight-or-flight response is a reaction that occurs in the body when we are really frightened. The body's fight-or-flight response is the body's way of reacting to a dangerous situation. When we are scared, our body's fight-or-flight response is triggered. This causes our heart to beat faster, our breathing to become deeper, and our muscles to become tense. This helps us to react quickly to a dangerous situation. In other words, the body's fight-or-flight response is a survival mechanism.

Endocrine System: GLANDS

A gland is a structure that produces and releases substances that perform a specific function in the body. There are many glands in the body. Some glands are endocrine glands, which release hormones into the bloodstream. Other glands are exocrine glands, which release substances into the body through a duct. The endocrine system is made up of glands that release hormones. The endocrine system is responsible for many of the body's functions, including growth, development, and metabolism.

Endocrine System: FEEDBACK LOOPS

Endocrine activities are regulated by complex feedback loops. These feedback loops help the body maintain a balance of hormones. When a hormone level is too high or too low, the body's feedback loop triggers a response to bring the level back to normal. This response is called a feedback loop. The feedback loop is a self-regulating system that helps the body maintain a balance of hormones.
