Fading Shadows Abettina Dell'Orfano Morano, 2014-10-31 The author would like to invite the reader to take a journey with her back in time I am writing this novel about my family who lived in the late 1800s My parents Michael and his wife Filomena Dell'Orfano were born 1878 and 1882 respectively Chiusano di San Domenico d'Avellino is a small town in the Province of Avellino in the Region of Campania in Naples Italy Raffael and Camella Dell'Orfano lived there with their sons Massimeno and Michele The Dell'Orfano family and others in that area were identified as Bianco or whiteheads due to their fair skin blond and red haired During the day the boys went to school and afterward worked in the fields and learned the value of hard work at a young age Later Michele became interested in a young lady by the name of Filomena though his father disapproved After a longtime disagreement between father and son Michele decided to marry his long time girl friend Filomena and left the homestead where he was born and raised Later Michele made his way to America to build a new life for his family Creating a new identity is never easy They struggled but their love keeps them strong as they remember the old country and looked forward to their new land

Shadows of the Foreign Legion or An Immigrant's Tale Oleksandr Sambor, 2025-04-30 This is my attempt to capture in digital form echoes of a time spent in the Legionnaire Imagine these not as precise historical records but as memories transformed into narrative a grandfather's tales perhaps spun years later for an audience of grandchildren Bear with me the chronology may wander and strict adherence to grammar might be flexible Specific Foreign Legion terms les mots de l'bas will appear in their original French Names and ranks emerge only when their significance is unmistakable Others remain veiled either lost to time or protected by discretion Let me emphasize this is not intended as a recruitment tool My perspective is deeply personal often laced with criticism and irony Those with unwavering devotion to the military or the French Republic may find my viewpoint idiosyncratic These are the reflections of a former immigrant who served those five years pursuing French citizenship and whose experiences were inevitably shaped by individual perspectives expectations and beliefs The content is divided into parts related to my stay in certain regiments of the Foreign Legion 1 RE 4 RE 3 REI These parts are divided into specific chapters and then into more particular mini themes If you aim to inform yourself about something specific you can find it in a table of contents If the topic is irrelevant the reader can skip it and go to the content he is more interested in If all goes well the content presented here will be Part 1 mainly describing my first steps of emigration boot camp and my stay in French Guiana

New Strangers in Paradise Gilbert H. Muller, 2014-07-11 New Strangers in Paradise offers the first in depth account of the ways in which contemporary American fiction has been shaped by the successive generations of immigrants to reach U.S. shores Gilbert Muller reveals how the intersections of peoples regions and competing cultural histories have remade the American cultural landscape in the aftermath of World War II Muller focuses on the literature of

Holocaust survivors Chicanos Latinos African Caribbeans and Asian Americans In the quest for a new identity each of these groups seeks the American dream and rewrites the story of what it means to be an American New Strangers in Paradise explores the psychology of uprooted peoples and the relations of culture and power addressing issues of race and ethnicity multiculturalism and pluralism and national and international conflicts Examining the groups of immigrants in the cultural and historical context both of America and of the lands from which they originated Muller argues that this fourth wave of immigration has led to a creative flowering in modern fiction The book offers a fresh perspective on the writings of Vladimir Nabokov Saul Bellow William Styron Maxine Hong Kingston Amy Tan Oscar Hijuelos Jamaica Kincaid Bharati Mukherjee Rudolfo Anaya and many others

Contentious City John Mollenkopf, 2005-08-25 Few public projects have ever dealt with economic and emotional issues as large as those surrounding the rebuilding of lower Manhattan following the terrorist attack of September 11 2001 Picking up the pieces involved substantial challenges deciding how to memorialize one of America's greatest tragedies how to balance the legal claim of landowners against the moral claim of survivors who want a say in the future of Ground Zero and how to rebuild the Trade Center site while preserving the sacredness and solemnity that Americans now attribute to the area All the while the governor the mayor the Port Authority and the leaseholder competed with one another to advance their own interests and visions of the redevelopment while at least leaving the impression that the decisions were the public's to make In Contentious City editor John Mollenkopf and a team of leading scholars analyze the wide ranging political dimensions of the recovery process Contentious City takes an in depth look at the competing interests and demands of the numerous stakeholders who have sought to influence the direction of the recovery process Lynne Sagalyn addresses the complicated institutional politics behind the rebuilding which involve a newly formed development commission seeking legitimacy a two state transportation agency whose brief venture into land ownership puts it in control of the world's most famous 16 acres of land and a private business group whose affiliation with the World Trade Center places it squarely in a fight for billions of dollars in insurance funds Arielle Goldberg profiles five civic associations that sprouted up to voice public opinion about the redevelopment process While the groups did not gain much leverage over policy outcomes Goldberg argues that they were influential in steering the agenda of decision makers and establishing what values would be prioritized in the development plans James Young a member of the jury that selected the design for the World Trade Center site memorial discusses the challenge of trying to simultaneously memorialize a tragic event while helping those who suffered find renewal and move on with their lives Editor John Mollenkopf contributes a chapter on how the September 11 terrorist attacks altered the course of politics in New York and how politicians at the city and state level adapted to the new political climate after 9/11 to win elected office Moving forward after the destruction of the Twin Towers was a daunting task made more difficult by the numerous competing claims on the site and the varied opinions on how it should be used in the future Contentious City brings together the voices surrounding this intense debate and helps make sense of the rival interests vying for control over one of the most controversial urban development programs in history A Russell Sage Foundation September 11 Initiative Volume Memory and Migration in the Shadow of War Joy Damousi, 2015-11-12 In an engaging and original contribution to the field of memory studies Joy Damousi considers the enduring impact of war on family memory in the Greek diaspora Focusing on Australia's Greek immigrants in the aftermath of the Second World War and the Greek Civil War the book explores the concept of remembrance within the larger context of migration to show how intergenerational experience of war and trauma transcend both place and nation Drawing from the most recent research in memory trauma and transnationalism Memory and Migration in the Shadow of War deals with the continuities and discontinuities of war stories assimilation in modern Australia politics and activism child migration and memories of mothers and children in war Damousi sheds new light on aspects of forgotten memory and silence within families and communities and in particular the ways in which past experience of violence and tragedy is both negotiated and processed

How the West Was Lost Patrick Michael Murphy, 2005-05-18 His premise is that civilizations have life spans and the Western civilization that produced America and Europe has been replaced in our lifetime and before our very eyes To people whose minds were made by the West the civilization we now find ourselves in often feels wrong evil even but we also find ourselves feeling oddly affectionate toward this strange new world And the more time that passes the more normal the New Civ gets to feel We sometimes have to pinch ourselves to remember that society once had roots in a universe that knew something of moral absolutes where the horrible behaviors we now read about in every morning newspaper were so rare that one such event in a year would have felt like the world is just about to end But these things are what passes for normalcy today We are still able to be reminded of what we know in our bones although it gets harder all the time something has gone terribly wrong That's what this book is about

A Vanishing America Hodding Carter, 1964 Twelve writers seek to recapture the lore and legends local color enterprises and vanishing values that have marked rural life in America

Nagai Kafū's Occidentalism Rachael Hutchinson, 2011-11-01 Nagai Kaf 1879-1959 spent more time abroad than any other writer of his generation firing the Japanese imagination with his visions of America and France Applying the theoretical framework of Occidentalism to Japanese literature Rachael Hutchinson explores Kaf's construction of the Western Other an integral part of his critique of Meiji civilization Through contrast with the Western Other Kaf was able to solve the dilemma that so plagued Japanese intellectuals how to modernize and yet retain an authentic Japanese identity in the modern world Kaf's flexible positioning of imagined spaces like the West and the Orient ultimately led him to a definition of the Japanese Self Hutchinson analyzes the wide range of Kaf's work particularly those novels and stories reflecting Kaf's time in the West and the return to Japan most unknown to Western readers and a number unavailable in English along with his better known depictions of Edo's demimonde Kaf's place in Japan's intellectual history and his influence on other writers are also discussed

Faded Destiny F. R. Gorman,2022-04-19 Beginning in the turbulent times of Protestant ascendancy in Ireland and ending during the tragic years of slavery in America this fifty year saga tells the story of my great grandfather Joseph Thomas Gorman From the small Irish village of his birth to the streets of Cork to the great city of New York and beyond this compelling story takes you on a journey full of intriguing characters indelible dangers and human passions When young Joseph witnesses his father s death at the hands of English soldiers he sets out to get revenge against the despotic English who have overrun his beloved Ireland He believes that he has been ordained by God to deliver Ireland from the hands of the English invaders but a boyish rock throwing incident against the English soldiers goes awry and propels him into a lifelong struggle to find his destiny Orphaned and alone Joseph joins in with a small gang of street urchins and quickly learns how to survive in an uncaring world through panhandling and thievery A certain turn of events however finds him in a desperate situation aboard a small ship headed for the Americas In the big city of New York he suffers disappointment and heartbreak when he dares to love someone above his station in life This dynamic story takes many twists and turns as he travels further west and chases new adventures across the plains of Ohio and beyond When the foul stench of slavery wafts across the land Joseph cannot ignore the call to arms and to where his destiny leads him The Delineator R. Montgomery,Charles Dwyer,1918 Nineteenth-Century American Literature and the Discourse of Natural History Juliana Chow,2021-11-18 Nineteenth Century American Literature and the Discourse of Natural History illuminates how literary experimentation with natural history provides penumbral views of environmental survival The book brings together feminist revisions of scientific objectivity and critical race theory on diaspora to show how biogeography influenced material and metaphorical concepts of species and race It also highlights how lesser known writers of color like Simon Pokagon and James McCune Smith connected species migration and mutability to forms of racial uplift The book situates these literary visions of environmental fragility and survival amidst the development of Darwinian theories of evolution and against a westward expanding American settler colonialism Within Our Gates Alan Gevinson,1997 These volumes are endlessly

Hebrew in America Alan L. Mintz,1993 Among the millions of Jews who immigrated to America in the early twentieth century there were the few for whom Hebrew culture was an important ideal Reaching a critical mass around World War I these American Hebraists attempted to establish a vital Hebrew culture in America They founded journals and wrote Hebrew poetry fiction and essays largely about the American Jewish experience and they succeeded in putting a Hebraist stamp upon most of the Jewish education that took place between the two world wars Hebrew in America is the first book to fully explore the Jewish attachment to Hebrew in twentieth century North America Fifteen leading scholars in Judaic studies write about the legacy of American Hebraism and the claims it continues to make upon the soul of the American Jewish community While they might commonly lament the eclipse of Hebrew in America they speak with many different voices when it comes to the analysis of problems and the prospects for change Several writers look backward to the impact of the Hebrew movement in America on literature and education Others consider the implications of Hebrew s arrival on the college campus Another emphasis of the book is the relationship between language and culture in the case of Hebrew from anthropological educational and linguistic perspectives And finally several essays assess the role of Hebrew in the development of Jewish leadership in America as regards the relationship with the classic past and with contemporary Israel
