Human Chris Matakas, 2014-12-10 In today's society where our distractions are only rivaled by our affinity toward them modern man is in need of a paradigm shift This book is that shift With an uncanny ability to make accessible the teachings of old Chris Matakas has shed light on the perils facing each of us in today's world and done so in a pleasurable digestible experience From transcending the illusion of self to serving our fellow man the reader is taken on a journey in self exploration toward a more actualized life Whether a beginner or life long student of philosophy this book serves each of its readers as an alternative manual to the human experience All of the proceeds from this book will be donated to Feeding America

Learning to be a Person in Society Peter Jarvis, 2012-06-25 Learning is a lifelong process and we are the result of our own learning But how exactly do we learn to be a person through living In this book Peter Jarvis draws together all the aspects of becoming a person into the framework of learning Considering the ongoing nature versus nurture debate over how we become people Jarvis's study of nurture what learning is primarily about builds on a detailed recognition of our genetic inheritance and evolutionary reality It demonstrates the ways in which we become social human beings internalising accommodating and rejecting the culture to which we are exposed both primarily and through electronic mediation while growing and developing as human beings and people As learning theory moves away from traditional single discipline approaches it is possible to place the person at the centre of all thinking about learning by emphasising a multi disciplinary approach This wide ranging study draws on established research from a number of disciplines into the complexities that make us who we are It will appeal to a wide variety of audiences those involved in all fields of education the study of learning and development human resource development psychology theology and the caring professions

Stop Painful Parenting: Tales from Our Side of the Mat Paul Prendergast, Carol Davis, LCSW, 2017-01-30 When I opened my first karate school twenty six years ago I would never have thought I would be dealing with parents who grew marijuana had fist fights in my lobby or moms who cheated on their husbands with other moms I never thought I'd deal with a mom so drunk she pissed her pants while waiting to pick up her child or a boy who drew pictures with his own poo on the walls of my bathroom My instructor never taught me how to defend myself against these types of attackers It is my hope that by reading this book people will be more conscience of their words and actions when in the presence of their children or other people's children People that become parents guardians coaches teachers mentors or who influence children will become more aware how important their role is Parents must understand if they want to see a change in their child they must be the change they want to see

Wikiworld Juha Suoranta, Tere Vadén, 2009-11-06 Wikiworld explores a revolution in the world of education The way we learn is changing institutionalised learning is transforming into new forms of critical learning and open collaboration This book offers a historical and political framework to think about the future of learning and educational media The authors provide an overview of the use of new technologies and learning practices and assess how the changing nature of education can lead to a more socially just future At the same time they place their analysis of education within a wider social and economic framework of contemporary capitalism Moonpies, Fireflies, Some Twisted Dreams, Some Truth, and Some Lies: Book One of Two James (Jim) Linn, 2023-08-22 About the Book In this memoir and bibliography combined with philosophy and short stories James Jim Linn has collected twelve years of quotes from others and how they spoke to him his deep thoughts some poetry and thought provoking memes Linn also shares his observations about life and human nature About the Author James Jim Linn played and managed softball teams both men s and co ed for forty seven years He now enjoys playing pickleball five days a week In his free time Linn likes to spend time with his family and friends travel to Europe and different cities in the US and learn new things Towards a Comprehensive Theory of Human Learning Peter Jarvis, 2012-08-06

As interest grows in theories of lifelong learning not only across society but also as an area of serious academic study the need has arisen for a thorough and critical study of the phenomenon This distillation of the work of renowned writer Peter Jarvis addresses this need looking at the processes involved in human learning from birth to old age and moving the field on from previous unsystematic and mainly psychological studies Instead Jarvis argues that learning is existential and so its study must be complex and interdisciplinary The result is a giant step towards building a complete and integrated theory of how humans learn taking account of existing theories to see if they can be reconciled with a more complex model Applying his expert analytical approach to this wide ranging topic Jarvis looks in detail at learning in the social context the transformation of experience the outcomes of learning learning and action cognitive theories emotions and learning experiential learning

Semiotic Theory of Learning Andrew Stables, Winfried Nöth, Alin Olteanu, Sébastien Pesce, Eetu Pikkariainen, 2018-05-15 Semiotic Theory of Learning asks what learning is and what brings it about challenging the hegemony of psychological and sociological constructions of learning in order to develop a burgeoning literature in semiotics as an educational foundation Drawing on theoretical research and its application in empirical studies the book attempts to avoid the problematization of the distinction between theory and practice in semiotics It covers topics such as signs significance and semiosis the ontology of learning the limits of learning ecosemiotics ecology and sexuality The book is written by five of the key figures in the semiotics field each committed to the belief that living is a process of interaction through acts of signification with a signifying environment While the authors are agreed on the value of semiotic frameworks the book aims not to present an entirely coherent line in every respect but rather to reflect ongoing scholarship and debates in the area In light of this the book offers a range of possible interpretations of major semiotic theorists unsettling assumptions while offering a fresh and still developing series of perspectives on learning from academics grounded in semiotics Semiotic Theory of Learning is a timely and valuable text that will be of great interest to academics researchers and postgraduates working in the fields of educational studies semiotics psychology philosophy applied linguistics and media studies Life and Death in Early Modern Philosophy Susan James, 2021 This book explores the breadth of philosophical interest in life and death during the early modern period It connects debates in philosophy with the life sciences linking the study of organisms to the practical aspect of philosophy and reminding us that that philosophers were concerned with learning how to live and how to die      Democracy, Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Peter Jarvis, 2008-06-10 This is a book with a difference it produces a completely new perspective on lifelong learning and the learning society and locates them within humanity itself Five themes run through this book Humankind has always been aware of the imperfections of human society as a consequence it has looked back to a mythological past and forward to a utopian future that might be religious political economic or even educational to find something better Lifelong learning as we currently see it is like two sides of the same coin we learn in order to be workers who produce and learn we have a need to consume We then devour the commodities we have produced whilst others take the profits One of the greatest paradoxes of the human condition has been the place of the individual in the group community or conversely how the groups allow the individual to exist rather than stifle individuality Modernity is flawed and the type of society that we currently have which we in the West call a learning society is in need of an ethical overhaul in this late modern age There is a need to bring a different perspective both political and ethical on lifelong learning and the learning society in order to try to understand what the good society and the good life might become In Democracy Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society the third volume of his trilogy on lifelong learning Professor Jarvis expertly addresses the issues that arise from the vision of the learning society The book concludes that since human beings continue to learn so the learning society must be a process within the incomplete project of humanity All three books in the trilogy will be essential reading for students in education HRD and teaching and learning generally in addition to academics and informed practitioners The Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Trilogy Volume 1 Towards a Comprehensive Theory of Human Learning Volume 2 Globalisation Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Volume 3 Democracy Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Peter Jarvis is an internationally renowned expert in the field of adult learning and continuing education He is Professor of Continuing Education at the University of Surrey UK and honorary Adjunct Professor in Adult Education at the University of Georgia USA      Everyday Life in the Modern World Henri Lefebvre, 2017-09-08 When Lefebvre's book first appeared in the 1960s it was considered a manifesto for a social movement that focused on the quality of life experienced by the individual by the common man and woman His emphasis on the quality of life will have even more appeal to those currently living with the problems of inflation unemployment and dwindling natural resources Basing his discussions on everyday life in France Lefebvre shows the degree to which our lived in world and our sense of it are shaped by decisions about which we know little and in which we do not participate He evaluates the achievements and shortcomings of applying various philosophical perspectives such as Marxism and Structuralism to daily life studies the impact of consumerism on society and looks at effects on society of linguistic phenomena and various kinds of terrorism communicated through mass media In his new introduction to this edi tion Philip Wander evaluates Lefebvre's ideas by relating many of them to current contexts. He discusses the political and economic aspects of daily life in the 1980s, the work environment, communications, and the world of science and technology.

Teaching, Learning and Education in Late Modernity Peter Jarvis, 2012-06-12 Professor Peter Jarvis has spent over 30 years researching, thinking, and writing about some of the key and enduring issues in education. He has contributed well over 30 books and 200 papers and chapters in books on learning theory, adult education, and learning, continuing professional education, nurse education, primary school education, distance education, and third age education. In this book, he brings together 19 key writings in one place. Starting with a specially written Introduction which gives an overview of Peter's career and contextualises his selection within the development of the field, the chapters cover Learning, Learning and Spirituality, Learning and Doing Teaching, The End of Modernity, Learning in Later Life. This book not only shows how Peter's thinking developed during his long and distinguished career, it also gives an insight into the development of the fields to which he contributed. In the World Library of Educationalists, international scholars themselves compile career-long collections of what they judge to be their finest pieces: extracts from books, key articles, salient research findings, major theoretical and practical contributions, so the world can read them in a single, manageable volume. Readers will be able to follow the themes and strands of their work and see their contribution to the development of a field as well as the development of the field itself. Contributors to the series include Richard Aldrich, Stephen J. Ball, John Elliott, Elliot Eisner, Howard Gardner, John Gilbert, Ivor F. Goodson, David Labaree, John White, E. C. Wragg. Atheism and Love in the Modern Era Colby Dickinson, 2025-04-17 Discussing the decline of faith and the rise of love in the modern era, Colby Dickinson proposes a critique of religious belief which addresses how a secular world can continue to mine religious traditions for their conceptual and emotional riches. Atheism and Love in the Modern Era argues that theism and atheism taken together can peel back the layers of abstraction, alienation, and disillusionment that always accompany our humanity in order to help us really see how it is to exist in this world. To illuminate this vision, Dickinson takes up the notion of love as a cultivation and practice of indifference, as a letting go of one's identity, a crucial concept that unites both religion and atheism through a concerted effort to detach from them both. The book is organized into four sections, each situating the concept of love in relation to a distinct theme: the first outlines modern secularized versions of various religious concepts such as technology in the place of miracles or art in the place of religious revelation. The second argues that in a pluralistic world, the actual lived realities of various religious communities and persons defy the static categories and classifications grouped under the umbrella of religion. The third section discusses and defines non-absolute love. The fourth section discusses how atheism, in its critiques of religion, misses the significance of de-centring the act of love. Dickinson elaborates his reflections through lucid engagement with a variety of thinkers including Immanuel Kant, Giorgio Agamben, Jacques Derrida, Erich Fromm, Charles Taylor, and Philip Kitcher. This is essential reading for those interested in popular debates around theism and atheism as well as those concerned with the ways in which continental and analytic philosophy have addressed the continued significance of religious traditions      From Adult Education to the Learning Society Peter Jarvis, 2013-01-11 This unique text provides a valuable route map to the development of thinking in adult education and lifelong learning It includes more than twenty five seminal articles from the first two decades of the International Journal of Lifelong Education written by leading authors in the field from the UK the USA Australia and Europe Compiled to show the development of the field the articles are divided into four sections From Adult Education to Lifelong Education and Lifelong Learning to the Learning Society and Beyond The specially written Introduction by the editor contextualises the selection and introduces readers to the main issues and current thinking in the field This is the only text of its kind to demonstrate practice and policy internationally over this period and as the collection of articles are now available in one easy access place this is an excellent resource for students and scholars      Learning to Live Together

David A. Hamburg, Beatrix A. Hamburg, 2004 With a view to deepening our understanding of sources of hatred and prejudice this book uses a developmental and evolutionary perspective to explore and explain the process by which our beliefs are conveyed to the youngest members of society Discussing the psychological obstacles to peaceful relations between groups the authors focus on the developmental processes by which we can work to diminish ethnocentrism prejudice and hatred which children learn from a very early age Until now scholarship and practice in international relations have gravely neglected crucial psychological aspects of these terrible problems and have not yet explored the educational opportunities related to them Addressing these promising lines of inquiry and innovation this book fosters a more humane and less violent development in childhood and adolescence Educators religious leaders developmental and social psychologists will find this a valuable resource as will a socially concerned segment of the public who are looking for practical ways to work for peace
