Mapping the Americas Shari M. Huhndorf, 2011-02-23 In Mapping the Americas Shari M Huhndorf tracks changing conceptions of Native culture as it increasingly transcends national boundaries and takes up vital concerns such as patriarchy labor and environmental exploitation the emergence of pan Native urban communities global imperialism and the commodification of indigenous cultures While nationalism remains a dominant anticolonial strategy in indigenous contexts Huhndorf examines the ways in which transnational indigenous politics have reshaped Native culture especially novels films photography and performance in the United States and Canada since the 1980s Mapping the Americas thus broadens the political paradigms that have dominated recent critical work in Native studies as well as the geographies that provide its focus particularly through its engagement with the Arctic Among the manifestations of these new tendencies in Native culture that Huhndorf presents are Igloolik Isuma Productions the Inuit company that has produced nearly forty films including Atanarjuat The Fast Runner indigenous feminist playwrights Leslie Marmon Silko's Almanac of the Dead and the multimedia artist Shelley Niro Huhndorf also addresses the neglect of Native America by champions of postnationalist American studies which shifts attention away from ongoing colonial relationships between the United States and indigenous communities within its borders to U S imperial relations overseas This is a dangerous oversight Huhndorf argues because this neglect risks repeating the disavowal of imperialism that the new American studies takes to task Parallel transnational tendencies in American studies and Native American studies have thus worked at cross purposes as pan tribal alliances draw attention to U S internal colonialism and its connections to global imperialism American studies deflects attention from these ongoing processes of conquest Mapping the Americas addresses this neglect by considering what happens to American studies when you put Native studies at the center

couplings between water security energy security and food security Part Two captures how climate change population increase and the growing food demand will have major impact on water availability in many countries in the world Part Three describes water for energy and how energy production and conversion depend on water availability As a consequence all planning has to take both water and energy into consideration The environmental including water consequences of oil and coal exploration and refining are huge in North America as well as in the rest of the world Furthermore oil leak accidents have hit America Africa Europe as well as Asia The consequences of hydropower are discussed and the competition between hydropower generation flood control and water storage is illustrated The importance of water for cooling thermal power plants is described as this was so tragically demonstrated at the Fukushima nuclear plants in 2011 Climate change will further emphasize the strong coupling between water availability and the operation of power plants Part Four analyses energy for water how water production and treatment depend on energy The book shows that a lot can be done to improve equipment develop processes and apply advanced monitoring and control to save energy for water operations Significant amounts of energy can be saved by better pumping the reduction of leakages controlled aeration in biological wastewater treatment more efficient biogas production and by improved desalination processes There are 3 PowerPoint presentations available for Water and Energy threats and opportunities 2e About the author Gustaf Olsson Professor Em in Industrial Automation Lund University Sweden Since 2006 Gustaf has been Professor Emeritus at Lund University Sweden Gustaf has devoted his research to control and automation in water systems electrical power systems and process industries From 2006 to 2008 he was part time professor in electrical power systems at Chalmers University of Technology Sweden He is guest professor at the Technical University of Malaysia UTM and at the Tsinghua University in Beijing China and he is an honorary faculty member of the Exeter University in UK Between 2005 and 2010 he was the editor in chief of the journals Water Science and Technology and Water Science and Technology Water Supply IWA Publishing From 2007 to 2010 he was a member of the IWA Board of Directors and in 2010 he received the IWA Publication Award In 2012 he was the awardee of an Honorary Doctor degree at UTM and an Honorary Membership of IWA Gustaf has guided 23 PhDs and a few hundred MSc students through their exams and has received the Lund University pedagogical award for distinguished achievements in the education The Lund University engineering students elected him as the teacher of the year He has spent extended periods as a guest professor and visiting researcher at universities and companies in the USA Australia and Japan and has been invited as a guest lecturer in 19 countries outside Sweden He has authored nine books published in English Russian German and Chinese and contributed with chapters in another 19 books as well as more than 170 scientific publications in the United States and its territories despite the anti immigration policies in place at the time JoAnna Poblete s Islanders in the Empire Filipino and Puerto Rican Laborers in Hawai i takes an in depth look at how the two groups fared in a third new colony Hawai i Using plantation documents missionary records government documents and oral histories Poblete analyzes how the workers interacted with Hawaiian government structures and businesses how U S policies for colonial workers differed from those for citizens or foreigners and how policies aided corporate and imperial interests A rare tandem study of two groups at work on foreign soil Islanders in the Empire offers a new perspective on American imperialism and labor issues of the era Library of Congress Catalog Library of Congress,1970 Sea of Storms Stuart B. Schwartz,2016-07-26

A panoramic social history of hurricanes in the Caribbean The diverse cultures of the Caribbean have been shaped as much by hurricanes as they have by diplomacy commerce or the legacy of colonial rule In this panoramic work of social history Stuart Schwartz examines how Caribbean societies have responded to the dangers of hurricanes and how these destructive storms have influenced the region s history from the rise of plantations to slavery and its abolition to migrations racial conflict and war Taking readers from the voyages of Columbus to the devastation of Hurricane Katrina Schwartz looks at the ethical political and economic challenges that hurricanes posed to the Caribbean s indigenous populations and the different European peoples who ventured to the New World to exploit its riches He describes how the United States provided the model for responding to environmental threats when it emerged as a major power and began to exert its influence over the Caribbean in the nineteenth century and how the region s governments came to assume greater responsibilities for prevention and relief efforts that by the end of the twentieth century were being questioned by free market neoliberals Schwartz sheds light on catastrophes like Katrina by framing them within a long and contentious history of human interaction with the natural world Spanning more than five centuries and drawing on extensive archival research in Europe and the Americas Sea of Storms emphasizes the continuing role of race social inequality and economic ideology in the shaping of our responses to natural disaster The Last Turtlemen of the Caribbean Sharika D. Crawford,2020-10-26

Illuminating the entangled histories of the people and commodities that circulated across the Atlantic Sharika D Crawford assesses the Caribbean as a waterscape where imperial and national governments vied to control the profitability of the sea Crawford places the green and hawksbill sea turtles and the Caymanian turtlemen who hunted them at the center of this waterscape The story of the humble turtle and its hunter she argues came to play a significant role in shaping the maritime boundaries of the modern Caribbean Crawford describes the colonial Caribbean as an Atlantic commons where all could compete to control the region s diverse peoples lands and waters and exploit the region s raw materials Focusing on the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Crawford traces and connects the expansion and decline of turtle hunting to matters of race labor political and economic change and the natural environment Like the turtles they chased the boundary flouting laborers exposed the limits of states sovereignty for a time but ultimately they lost their livelihoods having played a significant role in legislation delimiting maritime boundaries Still former turtlemen have found their deep knowledge valued today in efforts to protect sea turtles and recover the region s ecological sustainability
