Enzymes and Cellular Regulation

(Illustrate the factors that regulate the activity of the enzyme catalase (meatball))

Effect

Enzymes are protein-based biological molecules that play a catalytic role in most life. They help various metabolic activities, such as cell division, and are responsible for various cell functions and the health of the body. Enzymes function at low levels and are sensitive to changes in temperature and pH. Enzymes are sensitive to changes in temperature. If the temperature is too high or too low, the enzyme will lose its ability to function. In this activity, we will explore the effect of pH on the activity of the enzyme catalase. The enzyme catalase breaks down hydrogen peroxide into water and oxygen gas. The reaction is as follows:
