Some say the world will end in fire, some say in ice,
From what I've tasted of desire I hold with those who favor fire,
But if it had to perish twice, I think I know enough of hate
To say that for destruction ice is also great and would suffice.

Fire And Ice English Edition:

Fire and Ice Richard L. Davis, 2016-08-01 Fire & Ice Gordon Walmsley, 2004 This volume brings together poets from Scandinavia whose voices have not been widely heard in English translation Denmark Inger Christensen Denmark's most celebrated contemporary poet Lene Henningsen and Willum Peder Trelund Sweden Katarina Frostenson Birgitta Lillpers and Birgitta Trotzig translated into English for the first time Iceland Einar Mar Gudmundsson and Didda who has collaborated with her musician friends Bjork and Magga Stina Norway Stein Mehren Gordon Walmsley's latest poetry collection is Terebinthos Fire & Ice Carol A. Mullen, 2005 Fire Ice presents the educational inquiry process to school practitioners and aspiring leaders The context for this study is unusual because it addresses inquiry learning at both the master's and doctoral level and within group settings The picture that emerges illustrates ways for mentors to engage graduate students in learning writing and research through collaborative structures with an emphasis on learning communities as the primary vehicle for growth and success In the book graduate students have served as research participants focus group members and survey respondents in their dual role as peer mentor Because graduate education is being challenged to meet the changing needs of the twenty first century the influence of the professions on academic degrees has meant that students must develop as scholar practitioners instead of strictly intellectual academics Metaphorically the fire possibility desire and content and ice restraint structure and form of scholarly inquiry is used as a literary device to capture what it might mean for students to perform inquiry 1812, Through Fire and Ice with Napoleon Eugène Labaume, 2002 This reprint of a French narrative recounts the journey of a French officer of engineers as he marches with Eugene de Beauharnais IV Corps deep into Russia He relates battles at Moskwa and Borodino before reaching Moscow and then the retreat from Moscow including the crossing of the Beresina Fire and Ice Shawn Hilton, Toni Force, 2014-03-24 Twenty five years ago a Human and a Shaper fell in love Then the unthinkable happened and started a wedge that would drive them apart Now they are back in the same area and facing a danger that threatens their very lives while a bond that can't be broken attempts to reassert itself Join Scott and Armida in a race against time to stop an old foe playing on the prejudices that span centuries Enjoy the ride as they fight for their rights in a world where Vampires are more accepted than they are Love in a world where finding a mate could be a death sentence from her people and that is just a typical Monday Welcome to the world of the Michigan Shapers Fire and Ice Jonathan Mingle, 2025-06-25 High in the Himalayan valley of Zaskar in northwest India sits a village as isolated as the legendary Shangri La Long fed by runoff from glaciers and lofty snowfields Kumik a settlement of thirty nine mud brick homes has survived and thrived in one of the world's most challenging settings for a thousand years But now its people confront an existential threat chronic crippling drought which leaves the village canal dry and threatens to end their ancient culture of farming and animal husbandry Fire and Ice weaves together the story of Kumik's inspiring response to this calamity with the story of black carbon Black carbon from inefficient fires the particulate residue that makes soot dark is the second largest contributor to global warming after carbon dioxide. It is also a key ingredient of the air pollution that public health experts regard as humanity's greatest environmental health risk. Worldwide soot-laden smoke from household hearth fires and outdoor sources combine to kill over seven million people around the world every year. Jonathan Mingle describes the joys and struggles of daily life in the Zaskar Valley where villagers are buffeted by powerful environmental and economic forces while also tracing black carbon's dark fingerprints outward from Kumik and around the world. Mingle investigates its impacts on snow, ice, and water from Mt. Everest to California and the silent health epidemic it fuels from New York to New Delhi. Combining cultural history, detailed reportage, climate and energy science, and dramatic storytelling, Fire and Ice is a profound examination of the global challenges of averting climate chaos and lifting billions out of energy poverty and water scarcity. Can Kumik's people come together to reinvent fire, harness what remains of their life-sustaining ice, and reinvigorate their traditions of solidarity in time to save themselves? Can the rest of us rise to the same challenge? Fire and Ice connects these questions with the work of enterprising scientists, engineers, entrepreneurs, and activists around the world in a narrative that combines mythology, reason, humor, persistence, and hope in a race against a global clock.

Ice and Fire Stephen Osborne, 1998. Ice and Fire is a collection of nonfiction narratives from award-winning writer Stephen Osborne who retains an abiding sense that the places and the people he encounters are still to be discovered. Negotiating the Trans-Canada Highway near Moncton during a whiteout, visiting Timothy Eaton's grave in Toronto, leaving offerings of tobacco at a Nez Perce battleground, drinking with his Japanese mentor in a revolving bar in Vancouver while debating Buddhism vs. class struggle for Osborne, all of these are occasions to conjure our time and our place. Ice and Fire are extremes of a Canadian North from which several of these dispatches are written. But Osborne's special insight is that Kamloops, New Glasgow, and even Toronto are as unknowable as Pangnirtung. We live in a country that can claim the world's only souvenir police force and whose analogue is a department store, a country that believes itself to be part of a New World even though people have lived here for ten thousand years. Smart, funny, moving, and full of wonder and surprise, the dispatches in Ice and Fire illuminate a very old world striving to make itself new.

Fire & Ice Frederic Edwin Church, Thomas Weston Fels, 2002. Frederic Church (1826–1900) who gained international renown for paintings such as Niagara (1857), Heart of the Andes (1859), Twilight in the Wilderness (1860), and The Icebergs (1861) was inspired by his extensive travel and study. His work was also informed by his appreciation of a new visual medium. Fire and Ice, a selection from the several thousand photographs and daguerreotypes Church collected at Olana, his Orientalist home on the Hudson River, provides insight into the interests and taste of one of nineteenth-century America's greatest painters. Church was a boy of thirteen when the invention of photography was announced to the world. As a painter, he was of the first generation to grow up with photographs and consider them a useful adjunct to his work. Church collected photographs and daguerreotypes by early pioneers of the art, including Dr. Sir Charnay, Eadweard Muybridge, and Carleton Watkins. His collection appears to have served largely as a source of inspiration and armchair travel reminding him of favorite locations and details of architecture culture and landscape In Fire and Ice images from Church s collection are shown along with a selection of his own oil sketches drawings and archival materials Some of the photographs are devoted to the varied geographical interests reflected in Church s art and travels Central and South America the Middle East and the polar North Others served as visual reference for the design and construction of Olana Lavishly illustrated Fire Ice shows how the photographs in Church s collection echoed the principal stages of the painter s career The Works of Anatole France in an English Translation Anatole France,1910
