The Enlightenment Salon

Introduction.

"Literature, arts and philosophy were regular topics of discussions at salons, informal social gatherings at which, artists, writers and philosophers, and others exchange ideas. Salons originated in the 17th century when a group of noblewoman in Paris began inviting friends to their homes for poetry readings. Only the most witty, intelligent and well-read people were invited to the salons. By the 18th century, some middle-class women began holding salons, where they could meet with the nobility on equal conditions to discuss and spread enlightened ideas. (from World History: Connections to today by E.G. Ellis).

Activity description

We are holding a salon in class. For this, you will assume the identity of an Enlightenment thinker and converse with the class about your ideas.

Deliverables

- Three note cards regarding your assigned thinker. Each note card will answer the following questions:
 1. Who are you and what important things have you done.
 2. What do you think is wrong with society today (mid 18th century).
 3. What is your solution to society's problems?
- After salon: diary entry (descriptions and bon mots about two other philosophers.

Day of Salon

On the day of the Salon you must come to the class with the following items:

1. Completed note cards. You will use them as the basis for your comments during the salon discussion.
2. An item of food to share with the class during the Salon (food doesn't need to be French).
3. Be wearing at least two items of clothing that distinguishes you as an 18th century thinker (a hat, walking cane, vest, shawl, and scarf). You
