

PART I Chapter 1

Innovation in the crisis and beyond

This chapter provides an overview of the impact of the global financial and public debt crisis on innovation. The global financial crisis negatively affected business innovation and R&D. Enterprise innovation spending in both developed and business start-ups have increased significantly. The chapter shows substantial differences in performance across countries, sectors, businesses and types of innovation.

Recent trends in innovation in most developed countries are consistent. In particular, long-term challenges for innovative business sector which long-term skilled entrepreneurship team and public support of innovation is evidenced.

Finally, many countries have implemented policies in response to the crisis that include innovation, although regulatory constraints have put pressure on governmental support of innovation.
