La Peine De Mort En France:

Life in Revolutionary France Mette Harder, Jennifer Ngaire Heuer, 2020-08-20 The French Revolution brought momentous political social and cultural change Life in Revolutionary France asks how these changes affected everyday lives in urban and rural areas and on an international scale An international cast of distinguished academics and emerging scholars present new research on how people experienced and survived the revolutionary decade with a particular focus on individual and collective agency as discovered through the archival record material culture and the history of emotions It combines innovative work with student friendly essays to offer fresh perspectives on topics such as Political identities and activism Gender race and sexuality Transatlantic responses to war and revolution Local and workplace surveillance and transparency Prison communities and culture Food health and radical medicine Revolutionary childhoods With an easy to navigate three part structure illustrations and primary source excerpts Life in Revolutionary France is the essential text for approaching the experiences of those who lived through one of the most turbulent times in world history Collected Courses of the Academy of European Law Academy of European Law (Florence, Italy), Academy of European Law Staff, 1997-05-29 The Academy of European Law was established by the European University Institute in 1990 and extends the Institute's current programmes into a larger field of interest It has as its main activity the holding of annual Summer Courses in the law of the European Community and the protection of human rights in Europe In addition to General Courses shorter courses are held on subjects of special academic and practical interest in both fields Finally special guest lectures on topical issues are given by policy makers judges and persons who have held or currently hold the highest position in these fields The courses are published in the language in which they were delivered English and French Capital Letters Ève Morisi, 2020-03-15 Capital Letters sheds new light on how literature has dealt with society's most violent legal institution the death penalty It investigates this question through the works of three major French authors with markedly distinct political convictions and literary styles Victor Hugo Charles Baudelaire and Albert Camus Working at the intersection of poetics ethics and law Ève Morisi uncovers an unexpected transhistorical dialogue on both the modern death penalty and the ends and means of literature after the French Revolution Through close textual analysis careful contextualization and the critique of violence forged by Giorgio Agamben Michel Foucault and Ren Girard Morisi reveals that despite their differences Hugo Baudelaire and Camus converged in questioning France's humanitarian redefinition of capital punishment dating from the late eighteenth century Conversely capital justice led all three writers to interrogate the functions tools and limits of their art Capital Letters shows that the key modern debate on the political and moral responsibility or autonomy of literature crystallizes around the death penalty in works whose form disturbs the commonly accepted divide between aestheticism and engagement Internationales und Ausländisches Recht Internationale Vereinigung für Vergleichende Rechtswissenschaft und Volkswirtschaftslehre zu Berlin, 1914 Crime and Media in Contemporary France Deborah

Streifford Reisinger, 2007 Reisinger examines contemporary French society's relationship with violence in an era of increased media dominance. The study's innovative and interdisciplinary approach integrates media, cinema, and literary studies to analyze how crime news functions as a site of discursive struggle. By situating these crime stories in a larger historical and political context, she analyzes how media and politicians use the crime story as a tool for upholding the dominant ideology.
