Conexiones de la salud global
Benavides Arias, Diana, 2017-11-17. La obra es la fundamentación conceptual y ejemplificación de la interfaz ecosistema humano-animal definida esta última como la zona de contacto física y funcional entre tres sistemas independientes: los humanos, los animales domésticos o silvestres y el ecosistema. Así, entre las generalidades de este nuevo concepto y su relación con las agrociencias, la epidemiología y la ecología, al igual que entre la conexión de los múltiples sistemas a partir de estudios de caso de patógenos virales, bacterianos y protozoarios, se pretende dar un enfoque aplicado de la interfaz al estudiar diferentes situaciones donde se integra la seguridad alimentaria y la salud pública ambiental humana y animal. De este modo, el libro se constituye en un llamado a la colaboración interdisciplinaria y la comunicación entre los diferentes actores responsables del cuidado de la salud de los humanos, animales y el ambiente, tanto natural como modificado por las actividades humanas.
