Psychology and the Natural Law of Reparation

C. Fred Alford, 2006-05-15 Are there universal values of right and wrong good and bad shared by virtually every human The tradition of natural law argues that there is Drawing on the work of psychoanalyst Melanie Klein whose analyses have touched upon issues related to original sin trespass guilt and salvation through reparation in this 2006 book C Fred Alford adds an extra dimension to this argument we know natural law to be true because we have hated before we have loved and have wished to destroy before we have wanted to create Natural law is built upon the desire to make reparation for the goodness we have destroyed or have longed to destroy Through reparation we earn salvation from the most hateful part of ourselves that which would destroy what we know to be good

Islamic terrorists and three important cases two recent deadly terrorists and a primary figure in our current war on terror The central idea throughout the book is that a person's attitude toward terror and terrorism as well as whether he or she becomes a murderous terrorist or even who wages a global war on terror has much to do with that person's own terrifying experiences in infancy and childhood Such terror usually experienced first in the earliest interactions with the mother is symbolically expressed as Falk shows in fairy tales and myths about terrifying witches and female monsters Further terror may be experienced in the relationship with the father and also in various other traumatic ways It is these early terrors when extreme and uncontrollable that most often produce terrorists and wars on terror Falk argues Thus his book focuses on the conscious but also on the irrational and unconscious causes of terrorism Sincerity and Other Works Donald Meltzer, 2018-05-30 The author formulates here the existence of an anxiety apparatus whose functioning is a part of the ego and the personality structure and illustrates how in attacking this apparatus the ego is attacking itself An example is given of the workings of the death instinct and a differentiation is made between the ego's defence mechanisms and other pathological character devices The Democratic Arts of Mourning Alexander Keller Hirsch, David W. McIvor, 2019-01-21 The Democratic Arts of Mourning reflects on the variety of ways in which mourning affects political and social life In recent decades political theorists have increasingly examined and explored the themes of loss grief and mourning With an introduction that contextualizes the turn to mourning in previous scholarship on the politics of tragedy this book includes twelve chapters that clarify the intertwinement between politics and mourning The chapters are organized into five thematic sections that each shed light on how democratic societies relate to loss grief suffering and death Collectively the chapters explore the concept of mourning and its relationship to civic rituals memorials taboos social movements and popular music Chapters examine how social groups defend their members against experiences of grief or mourning or how poetic expressions such as ancient Greek tragedy can address the catastrophes of human life Other chapters explore the politics of symbols and bodies and how they can become fraught objects that stand in for a society's undigested unmourned losses and absences The book concludes with an interview with Bonnie Honig whose own work on mourning has been deeply influential in contemporary political theory The Criminal Law's Person Claes Lernestedt, Matt Matravers, 2022-02-10 The state's use of the threat and imposition of punishments to regulate conduct is thought or at least said by many to be legitimised by the idea that the criminal law's burdens only fall on those who are blameworthy for their conduct However the formal concept of blameworthiness needs to be made substantive This puts various ideas regarding the criminal law's person at the heart of debates about blame guilt and responsibility How is the criminal law's person constructed by whom and with what disciplinary norms How is it threatened by new knowledge and how do those threats play out amongst the various stakeholders who claim the criminal law's person as theirs To address these and cognate questions this volume brings together an international group of academics to engage with the criminal law's person from a range of disciplinary
