Love Objects Emotion Design And Material Culture:

Love Objects Anna Moran, Sorchá O'Brien, 2014-10-23 Love Objects is the first anthology on the concept of love to interrogate across a range of contexts its design and other material manifestations Love Objects Anna Moran, 2014

Love Objects Anna Moran, Sorchá O'Brien, 2014-08-28 How are love and emotion embodied in material form Love Objects explores the emotional potency of things addressing how objects can function as fetishes symbols and representations active participants in and mediators of our relationships as well as tokens of affection symbols of virility triggers of nostalgia replacements for lost loved ones and symbols of lost places and times Addressing both designed things with attitude and the wild things of material culture Love Objects explores a wide range of objects from 19th century American portraits displaying men's passionate friendships to the devotional and political meanings of religious statues in 1920s Ireland Feeling

Things Stephanie Downes, Sally Holloway, Sarah Randles, 2018-01-13 This interdisciplinary essay collection investigates the various interactions of people feelings and things throughout premodern Europe It focuses on the period before mass production when limited literacy often prioritised material methods of communication The subject of materiality has been of increasing significance in recent historical inquiry alongside growing emphasis on the relationships between objects emotions and affect in archaeological and sociological research The historical intersections between materiality and emotions however have remained under theorised particularly with respect to artefacts that have continuing resonance over extended periods of time or across cultural and geographical space Feeling Things addresses the need to develop an appropriate cross disciplinary theoretical framework for the analysis of objects and emotions in European history with special attention to the need to track the shifting emotional valencies of objects from the past to the present and from one place and cultural context to another The collection draws together an international group of historians art historians curators and literary scholars working on a variety of cultural literary visual and material sources Objects considered include books letters prosthetics religious relics shoes stone and textiles Many of these have been preserved in international galleries museums and archives while others have remained in their original locations even as their contexts have changed over time The chapters consider the ways in which emotions such as despair fear grief hope love and wonder become inscribed in and ascribed to these items producing emotional objects of significance and agency Such objects can be harnessed to create affirm or express individual relationships as for example in religious devotion and practice or in the construction of cultural communal and national identities Radiophilia Carolyn Birdsall, 2023-08-24 A century ago the emergence of radio along with organized systems of broadcasting sparked a global fascination with the wonder of sound transmission and reception The thrilling experience of tuning in to the live sounds of this new medium prompted strong affective responses in its listeners This book introduces a new concept of radiophilia defined as the attachment to or even a love of radio Treating radiophilia as a dynamic cultural phenomenon it unpacks the various pleasures associated with radio and its sounds the desire to discover and learn new things via radio and efforts to record re experience and share radio Surveying 100 years of radio from early wireless through to digital audio formats like podcasting the book engages in debates about fandom audience participation listening experience material culture and how media relate to affect and emotions Emotional Bodies Dolores

In a New Light Abigail Harrison Moore, R.W. Sandwell, 2021-07-15 In the early 1970s a German study estimated that women expended as many calories cleaning their coal mining husbands work clothes as their husbands did working below ground arguably making the home as much a site of industrialized work as factories and mines But while energy studies are beginning to acknowledge the importance of social and historical contexts and to produce more inclusive histories of the unprecedented energy transitions that powered industrialization women have remained notably absent from these accounts In a New Light explores the vital place of women in the shift to fossil fuels that spurred the Industrial Revolution illuminating the variety of ways in which gender and energy intersected in women s lives in nineteenth and twentieth century Europe and North America From their labour in the home where they managed the adoption of new energy sources to their work as educators in electrical housecraft and their protests against the effects of industrialization women took on active roles to influence energy decisions Together these essays deepen our understanding of the significance of gender in the history of energy and of energy transitions in the history of women and gender By foregrounding women s energetic labours and concerns the authors shed new light on energy use in the past and provide important insights as societies move towards a carbon neutral future The

Materiality of Love Anna Malinowska, Michael Gratzke, 2017-09-27 Drawing on love studies and research in material cultures this book seeks to re examine love through materiality studies especially their recent incarnations new materialism and object oriented philosophy to spark a debate on the relationship between love objects and forms of materializing affection It focuses on love as a material form and traces connections between feelings and materiality especially in relation to the changing notion of the material as marked by digital culture as well as the developments in understanding the nature of non human affect It provides insight into how materiality in its broadest sense impacts the understanding of the meanings and practices of love today and reversely how love contributes to the production and transformation of the material world

Alexandra Palmer, 2018-11-01 Over the last century there has been a complete transformation of the fashion system The unitary top down fashion cycle has been replaced by the pulsations of multiple and simultaneous styles while the speed of global production and circulation has become ever faster and more complex Running in tandem the development of artificial fibres has revolutionized the composition of clothing and the increased focus on youth sexuality and the body has radically changed its design From the 1920s flapper dress to debates over the burkini fashion has continued to be deeply involved in society's larger issues Drawing on a wealth of visual textual and object sources and illustrated with 100 images A Cultural History of Dress and Fashion in the Modern Age presents essays on textiles production and distribution the body belief gender and sexuality status ethnicity and visual and literary representations to illustrate the diversity and cultural significance of dress and fashion in the period The Game of Love in Georgian England Sally Holloway, 2019 Courtship in Georgian England was a decisive moment in the life cycle often imagined as a tactical game Sally Holloway uses a rich selection of material and written sources to explore the emotional experience of courtship between Georgian men and women how love developed into a commercial industry and what happened when engagements went awry Practicing Art and Anthropology Anna Laine, 2020-06-07 Practicing Art and Anthropology presents an in depth exploration of transdisciplinary work in the expanding space between art and anthropology Having trained and worked as an artist as well as an anthropologist Anna Laine's decades long engagement in art practice artistic research and anthropology provide her with a unique perspective on connections between the two fields both in theory and in practice Intertwining artistic and anthropological ways of working Laine asks what it means to engage a transdisciplinary stance when academia requires a specific disciplinary belonging In order to expand the methods of producing academic knowledge by going beyond conventional approaches to research she draws on examples from her own work with Tamils in India and the UK to present an original take on how we can cross the boundaries between art and anthropology to reach multiple dimensions of understanding Offering exceptional breadth and detail Practicing Art and Anthropology provides a unique approach to the discussion An important read for students and scholars in art and anthropology as well as artists and anyone interacting in the space in between What is the History of Emotions? Barbara H. Rosenwein, Riccardo Cristiani, 2017-12-08 What Is the History of Emotions offers an accessible path through the thicket of approaches debates and past and current trends in the history of emotions Although historians have always talked about how people felt in the past it is only in the last two decades that they have found systematic and well grounded ways to treat the topic Rosenwein and Cristiani begin with the science of emotion explaining what contemporary psychologists and neuropsychologists think emotions are They continue with the major early foundational approaches to the history of emotions and they treat in depth new work that emphasizes the role of the body and its gestures Along the way they discuss how ideas about emotions and their history have been incorporated into modern literature and technology from children's books to videogames Students teachers and anyone else interested in emotions and how to think about them historically will find this book to be an indispensable and fascinating guide not only to the past but to what may lie ahead Worn Ellen Sampson, 2020-12-10 Shortlisted for the Association of Dress Historians Book of the Year Award 2021 In a culture preoccupied with newness and a fashion system largely predicated upon it what is the significance of worn clothes and why do they have the power to affect us so deeply How are relationships to clothing produced and maintained through the embodied practices of wearing maintenance and repair

Through a focus upon a single garment the shoe this book calls on readers to reconsider the value of the marks of wear at a time when fast fashion reigns supreme and interest in damaged or worn garments quietly increases Originating in an experimental practice based methodology which placed wearing at its center this book presents the act of wearing as a tool for developing knowledge of being in or being with rather than observing from the outside Bringing together anthropological and psychoanalytic theory with practices of handmaking wearing and photography this book asks what is the embodied experience of wearing and the affect of the worn Beautifully illustrated in full color throughout Worn is the first book to focus exclusively on the significance of imperfect garments as important aspects of our material world and culture Dress

History Charlotte Nicklas, Annebella Pollen, 2015-10-22 The field of dress history has experienced exponential growth over the past two decades This in depth investigation examines the expanding borders and porous boundaries of the discipline today outlining key debates and showcasing the most exciting research With international case studies from a wide range of scholars the volume encompasses work from a variety of historical periods from the late 18th century to the present day Contributors examine critique and expand the methodologies and sources used in fashion history analyse how dress is collected displayed and sold and investigate clothing s meanings and uses in the practice of identity Exploring overlooked territories and new approaches to analysis the book offers students and scholars a fresh appraisal of dress history in the 21st century
