Place, Identity, and National Imagination in Post-war Taiwan Bi-yu Chang, 2015-03-24 In the struggles for political and cultural hegemony that Taiwan has witnessed since the 1980s the focal point in contesting narratives and the key battlefield in the political debates are primarily spatial and place based The major fault line appears to be a split between an imposed identity emphasizing cultural origin China and an emphasis on the recovery of place identity of the local Taiwan Place Identity and National Imagination in Postwar Taiwan explores the ever present issue of identity in Taiwan from a spatial perspective and focuses on the importance of and the relationship between state spatiality and identity formation

Taking postwar Taiwan as a case study the book examines the ways in which the Kuomintang regime naturalized its political control territorialized the island and created a nationalist geography In so doing it examines how why and to what extent power is exercised through the place making process and considers the relationship between official versions of ROC geography and the islanders shifting perceptions of the nation In turn by addressing the relationship between the state and the imagined community Bi yu Chang establishes a dialogue between place and cultural identity to analyse the constant changing and shaping of Chinese and Taiwanese identity With a diverse selection of case studies including cartographical development geography education territorial declaration and urban planning this interdisciplinary book will have a broad appeal across Taiwan studies geography cultural studies history and politics narrows its focus to clearly review clinical assessment models and the special issues that may be factors in conflicted families. Therapists, psychologists, counselors, and social workers learn cutting edge recommendations for policies protecting the well being of children involved in divorce, plus practical specific systemic treatment interventions that are illustrated with case studies. When Marriages Fail is separated into three logically organized sections. Part one provides a helpful overview of the field's evolving literature as it stands now and gives tools to therapists and their clients to explore their internal and dyadic processes in considering whether or not to divorce. The second part presents two systemic models that explore the dynamics of conflicted couples moving toward divorce and considers specific family circumstances that affect the entire divorce process, such as family violence, disclosure of gender orientation, and the unhappiness of the family's children. Part three discusses in detail specific and practical treatment interventions considering factors involved when diverse families separate, divorce, and remarry. The text also provides a fitting tribute to William C. Nichols, a pioneer of marital and family therapy. Topics in When Marriages Fail include the therapist's choices in helping couples process their own choices, an ecosystemic look at the rights of children in divorce, interventions for mourning adulterous triangles, incongruent goals, cultural differences, or family of origin, disclosing gay or lesbian orientation in marriage, domestic violence issues, children's trauma in the parental break up, family therapy interventions through three systemic stages of divorce, remarriage of the first spouse in post-divorce families, trauma of the betrayed spouse, parent loss, and serial relationships, gay divorces, and more. With Forewords by Douglas Sprenkle and Augustus Y. Napier, as well as several international contributors who shed light on how this compelling subject is addressed outside of the United States, When Marriages Fail is an invaluable source of the latest knowledge and interventions for family therapists, counselors, social workers, and psychologists.

Motivation in Organisations Manuel Guillen, 2020-11-10 Motivation in Organisations Searching for a Meaningful Work Life Balance extends the current motivation models in business education to include motives of human behaviour that have been neglected for decades. It debunks some of the myths about human motivation: self-interest as the dominant factor, amorality, and non-spirituality, and explains why this approach to teaching business is erroneous and leads to wrong and harmful practices in many organisations. In a very personal and engaging style, the author presents a map of motivations based on a humanistic approach to management. This includes the latest findings of Abraham H. Maslow, supported by sound philosophical reflections and modern research. He also presents specific ways of putting the framework into practice, sharing stories from students and professionals of how this framework has helped them better understand their own motivations and look at their daily work in a much more meaningful way. The book is highly relevant to students and researchers in humanistic management, people management, organisational behaviour, business ethics, corporate social responsibility, and sustainability. In short, this text will be truly inspiring to anyone who wants to reflect on motivations in organisations and how to achieve a better work life balance.
