Handbook of Research methods and Applications in Environmental Studies Matthias Ruth, 2015-08-28 This Handbook presents methods to advance the understanding of interdependencies between the well being of human societies and the performance of their biophysical environment It showcases applications to material and energy use urbanization and tech

Urbanization with Chinese Characteristics: The Hukou System and Migration Kam Wing Chan, 2018-04-19 Many agree that rapid urbanization in China in the late 20th and early 21st centuries is a mega process significantly reshaping China and the global economy China s urbanization also carries a certain mystique which has long fascinated generations of scholars and journalists alike As it has turned out many of the asserted Chinese feats are mostly fancied claims or gross misinterpretations of statistics for example There does exist however an urbanization that displays rather uncommon Chinese characteristics that remain to inadequately understood Building on his three decades of careful research Professor Kam Wing Chan expertly dissects the complexity of China s hukou system migration urbanization and their interrelationships in this set of journal articles published in the last ten years These works range from seminal papers on Chinese urban definitions and statistics and broad perspective analysis of the hukou system of its first semi centennial to examinations of migration trends and geography and critical evaluations of China s 2014 urbanization blueprint and hukou reform plan This convenient assemblage contains many of Chan s recent important works Together they also form a relatively coherent set on this topic They are essential readings to anyone serious about gaining a true understanding of the prodigious urbanization in contemporary China

Spatiality Vít Pászto, Carsten Jürgens, Polona Tominc, Jaroslav Burian, 2019-11-06 This open access book is based on Spatiality Spatial Exploration of Economic Data an interdisciplinary and international project in the frame of ERASMUS funded by the European Union The project aims to exchange interdisciplinary knowledge in the fields of economics and geomatics For the newly introduced courses interdisciplinary learning materials have been developed by a team of lecturers from four different universities in three countries In a first study block students were taught methods from the two main research fields Afterwards the knowledge gained had to be applied in a project For this international project teams were formed consisting of one student from each university participating in the project The achieved results were presented in a summer school a few months later At this event more methodological knowledge was imparted to prepare students for a final simulation game about spatial and economic decision making In a broader sense the chapters will present the methodological background of the project give case studies and show how visualisation and the simulation game works

Geofinance between Political and Financial Geographies Silvia Grandi, Christian Sellar, Juvavia Jafri, 2019-12-27 This edited collection explores the boundaries between political and financial geographies focusing on the linkages between the changing strategies policies and institutions of the state It also investigates banks and other financial institutions affected by both state policies and a globalizing financial system and the financial resources available to firms as well as households In so doing the book highlights how an empirical focus on the semi periphery of the financial system may generate new perspectives on the entanglement between geo politics and finance

Order and Conflict in Public Space Mattias De Backer, Lucas Melgaço, Georgiana Varna, Francesca Menichelli, 2016-05-20 Which public and whose space The understanding of public space as an arena where individuals can claim full use and access hides a reality of constant negotiation conflict and surveillance This collection uses case studies concerning the management use and transgression of public space to invite reflection on the way in which everyday social interaction is framed and shaped by the physical environment and vice versa International experts from fields including geography criminology sociology and urban studies come together to debate the concepts of order and conflict in public space This book is divided into two parts spaces of control and spaces of transgression Section I focuses on formal and informal surveillance and the politics of control using case studies to compare strategies in spaces including Olympic cities luxury skyscrapers residential neighbourhoods and shopping malls Section II focuses on transgressive or deviant behaviour in public spaces with case studies examining behaviour in nightlife districts governance of homelessness boy racer culture and abortion protests The epilogue concludes the book with an exploration of possible future avenues for research on public space and a critical appraisal of the concept of public space itself This interdisciplinary collection will be of interest to students researchers and professionals in the areas of criminology sociology surveillance studies human and social geography and urban studies and planning

Handbook on Geographies of Technology Barney Warf, 2017-02-24 This Handbook offers an insightful and comprehensive overview from a geographic perspective of the numerous and varied technologies that are shaping the contemporary world It shows how geography and technology are intimately linked by examining the origins growth and impacts of 27 different technologies and highlighting how they influence the structure and spatiality of society

The Great Music City Andrea Baker, 2019-03-01 In the 1960s as gentrification took hold of New York City Jane Jacobs predicted that the city would become the true player in the global system Indeed in the 21st century more meaningful comparisons can be made between cities than between nations and states Based on case studies of Melbourne Austin and Berlin this book is the first in depth study to combine academic and industry analysis of the music cities phenomenon Using four distinctly defined algorithms as benchmarks it interrogates Richard Florida's creative cities thesis and applies a much needed synergy of urban sociology and musicology to the concept mediated by a journalism lens Building on seminal work by Robert Park Lewis Mumford and Jane Jacobs it argues that journalists are the cultural branders and street theorists whose ethnographic approach offers critical insights into the urban sociability of music activity

The Walking Dead at Saqqara Lara Weiss, 2022-06-21 Funerary rituals and the cult of the dead are classics of research in religious studies especially for ancient Egypt Still we know relatively little about how people interacted in daily life at the city of Memphis and its Saqqara necropolis in the late second millennium BCE By focussing on lived ancient religion we can see that the social and religious strategies employed by the individuals at Saqqara are not just means on the way to religious post mortem salvation nor is their self representation simply intended to manifest social status. On the contrary the religious practices at Saqqara show in their complex spatiality a wide spectrum of options to configure sociality before and after one's own death. The analytical distinction between religion and other forms of human practices and sociality illuminates the range of cultural practices and how people selected, modified or even avoided certain religious practices. As a result pre-funerary, funerary and practices of the subsequent mortuary cults in close connection with religious practices directed towards other ancestors and deities allow the formation of imagined and functioning reminiscence clusters as central social groups at Saqqara, creating a heuristic model applicable also to other contexts.

Atlas of Knowledge Katy Borner, 2015-03-20. The power of mapping principles for visualizing knowledge illustrated by many stunning large scale full color maps. Maps of physical spaces locate us in the world and help us navigate unfamiliar routes. Maps of topical spaces help us visualize the extent and structure of our collective knowledge; they reveal bursts of activity, pathways of ideas and borders that beg to be crossed. This book from the author of Atlas of Science describes the power of topical maps, providing readers with principles for visualizing knowledge and offering as examples forty large scale and more than 100 small scale full color maps. Today data literacy is becoming as important as language literacy. Well designed visualizations can rescue us from a sea of data, helping us to make sense of information, connect ideas and make better decisions in real time. In Atlas of Knowledge, leading visualization expert Katy Borner makes the case for a systems science approach to science and technology studies and explains different types and levels of analysis. Drawing on fifteen years of teaching and tool development, she introduces a theoretical framework meant to guide readers through user and task analysis, data preparation, analysis and visualization, visualization deployment and the interpretation of science maps. To exemplify the framework, the Atlas features striking and enlightening new maps from the popular Places Spaces Mapping Science exhibit that range from Key Events in the Development of the Video Tape Recorder to Mobile Landscapes, Location Data from Cell Phones for Urban Analysis to Literary Empires, Mapping Temporal and Spatial Settings of Victorian Poetry to Seeing Standards: A Visualization of the Metadata Universe. She also discusses the possible effect of science maps on the practice of science.

Carceral Mobilities Jennifer Turner, Kimberley Peters, 2016-12-01. Mobilities research is now centre stage in the social sciences with wide ranging work that considers the politics, underscoring the movements of people and objects, critically examining a world that is ever on the move. At first glance the words carceral and mobilities seem to sit uneasily together. This book challenges the assumption that carceral life is characterised by a lack of movement. Carceral Mobilities brings together contributions that speak to contemporary debates across carceral studies and mobilities research, offering fresh insights to both areas by identifying and unpicking the manifold mobilities that shape and are shaped by carceral regimes. It features four sections that move the reader through the varying typologies of motion, underscoring carceral life, tension, circulation, distribution and transition. Each mobilities led section seeks to explore the politics encapsulated in specific regimes of carceral movement.

With contributions from leading scholars and a range of international examples this book provides an authoritative voice on carceral mobilities from a variety of perspectives including criminology sociology history cultural theory human geography and urban planning This book offers a first port of call for those examining spaces of detention asylum imprisonment and containment who are increasingly interested in questions of movement in relation to the management control and confinement of populations
