Engaged Decision Making Étienne A. J. A. Rouwette, L. Alberto Franco, 2024-04-11 In the knowledge economy teams play a central role in decisions made within and across organisations The reason why teams with diverse compositions are often used is arguably their ability to develop solutions that none of their members could have produced alone Systems design strategy and policy development risk management and innovation are just a few of the areas that call for team decisions Unfortunately a considerable number of behavioural research studies show that teamwork is fraught with difficulties Teams often underestimate their fallibility struggle with conflict or are unable to share and integrate critical information effectively Indeed the evidence shows that two out of three teams do not achieve their goals and half of organisational decisions many of which are team decisions fail In this book the authors draw from research in psychology decision and systems sciences as well as their own research and consulting work that spans more than 20 years to show how designed interventions can enable team decision making to become rigorous transparent and defensible They cover theory and practice regarding the design delivery and evaluation of interventions to support team decision making in situations of varied complexity Written as an applied resource for researchers and advanced students in particular this book offers a guide to proven interventions that enhance the process of making team decisions and increase the chances of superior team results The Open Access version of
