The Sound of Poetry / The Poetry of Sound Marjorie Perloff, Craig Dworkin, 2009-10-15 Sound one of the central elements of poetry finds itself all but ignored in the current discourse on lyric forms The essays collected here by Marjorie Perloff and Craig Dworkin break that critical silence to readdress some of the fundamental connections between poetry and sound connections that go far beyond traditional metrical studies Ranging from medieval Latin lyrics to a cyborg opera sixteenth century France to twentieth century Brazil romantic ballads to the contemporary avant garde the contributors to The Sound of Poetry The Poetry of Sound explore such subjects as the translatability of lyric sound the historical and cultural roles of rhyme the role of sound repetition in novelistic prose the connections between sound poetry and music between the visual and the auditory the role of the body in performance and the impact of recording technologies on the lyric voice Along the way the essay takes on the ensemble discords of Maurice Scève's Die Ezra Pound's use of Chinese whispers the alchemical theology of Hugo Ball's Dada performances Jean Cocteau's modernist radiophonics and an intercultural account of the poetry reading as a kind of dubbing A genuinely comparatist study The Sound of Poetry: The Poetry of Sound is designed to challenge current preconceptions about what Susan Howe has called articulations of sound forms in time as they have transformed the expanded poetic field of the twenty-first century

Race Sounds Nicole Brittingham Furlonge, 2018-05-15 We live in a world of talk Yet Race Sounds argues that we need to listen more not just hear things but actively listen particularly in relation to how we engage race gender and class differences Forging new ideas about the relationship between race and sound Furlonge explores how black artists including well-known figures such as writers Ralph Ellison and Zora Neale Hurston and singers Bettye LaVette and Aretha Franklin among others imagine listening Drawing from a multimedia archive Furlonge examines how many of the texts call on readers to listen in print In the process she gives us a new way to read and interpret these canonical aurally inflected texts and demonstrates how listening allows us to engage with the sonic lives of difference as readers thinkers and citizens Intervening in discourses of African American and black feminist literatures where sound and voice dominate Furlonge shifts our attention to listening as an aural strategy of cultural social and civic engagement that not only enlivens how we read write and critique texts but also informs how we might be more effective audiences for each other and against injustice in our midst The result is a fascinating examination that brings new insights to African American literature and art American literature democratic philosophy and sound studies
