Mathematical Work in Educational Context Alain Kuzniak, Elizabeth Montoya-Delgadillo, Philippe R. Richard, 2022-03-31 This book is a friendly and complete introduction to one of the most comprehensive contemporary theories of mathematics teaching and learning By focusing on mathematical work performed by students and teachers during mathematics session the theory of Mathematical Workings Spaces MWS has opened up new perspectives and avenues on mathematics education and mathematical thinking In particular it enables the identification of students knowledge production processes and helps teachers to shape them The first part of the book explores the heart of the theory and aims to further describe and understand epistemological and cognitive aspects of mathematical work The second part develops the different MWS dedicated to observing how this work depends on the expectations of educational systems how it is formed and taught and how individuals appropriate it In the last part some applications and perspectives are discussed regarding topics of major importance today in mathematics education which relate to technological and digital tools teacher training and modeling activities In line with the spirit of the theory the book was written to reflect the conceptual unity at the heart of the theory of MWS and at the same time to show the freedom and diversity of approaches given space therein Written for researchers and professionals in mathematics education it offers plenty of concrete examples from different educational systems around the world to illustrate the theoretical concepts and show the applicability of the theory to practice and research

Teaching As A Reflective Practice Ian Westbury, Stefan Hopmann, Kurt Riquarts, 2012-08-06 This volume presents a mix of translations of classical and modern papers from the German Didaktik tradition newly prepared essays by German scholars and practitioners writing from within the tradition and interpretive essays by U S scholars It brings this tradition which virtually dominated German curricular thought and teacher education until the 1960s when American curriculum theory entered Germany and which is now experiencing a renaissance to the English speaking world where it has been essentially unknown The intent is to capture in one volume the core at least of the tradition of Didaktik and to communicate its potential relevance to English language curricularists and teacher educators It introduces a theoretical tradition which although very different in almost every respect from those we know offers a set of approaches that suggest ways of thinking about problems of reflection on curricular and teaching praxis the core focus of the tradition which the editors believe are accessible to North American readers with appropriate translation These ways of thinking and related praxis are very relevant to notions such as reflective teaching and the discourse on teachers as professionals By raising the possibility that the new tradition of Didaktik can be highly suggestive for thinking through issues related to a number of central ideas within contemporary discourse and for exploring the implications of these ideas for both teacher education and for a curriculum theory appropriate to these new contexts for theorizing this book opens up a gold mine of theoretical and practical possibilities
