1° acceptance angle,
measuring range 0 (0°) to 200,000 counts
(0 (0°) to 87,500 B.)

1/2° acceptance angle,
measuring range: 0.01 to 1000.000 nmol/l
(0.01 to 100.000 %)

Flareview SLR optical system for accurate measurements

The GPR (range-finder) optical system allows precise ranging and ensures that the controller always knows the exact area to be measured. The optical system is also virtually harmless, eliminating the influence of heat from within the measurement area.

Acceptance angles of only 1° for L&T-100 and 10° for L&T-100 allow accurate measurements of small specimen areas. In addition, optional viewing lenses can be used to measure areas as small as 0.1 mm when using L&T-100 and still less when using L&T-100.

To increase the versatility of the LM-500 and LM-100, both meters are equipped with user calibration and user correction functions. The user calibration function allows the meter to be calibrated to a user selected standard instead of the general Bureau Weights standard. The function can also be used to standardize the response of several meters. The user correction function allows the response of the meter to be adjusted when measuring various substances.

In addition to measurements of the present luminance, the L^* , a^* and b^* can also determine the present ratio of the measured luminance to a luminance value stored in memory as well as the peak luminance or luminance ratio measured.

Users of the built-in PDI-PDI interface should be aware that there is no connection to a personal category.

Lightweight, compact design powered by a simple 12 Southern Pine portability

Initially, the relative spectral responsiveness of the luminance meter should satisfy $Y(0)$ of the human eye for photopic vision. As shown in the graph above, the relative spectral responsiveness of Konica Minolta Luminance Meters LS-100/LS-100B is close to the [CIE] spectral luminance efficiency $Y(\lambda)$ [CIE Colorimetric characteristics in colorimetry].

The degree to which the influence of light from outside the defined measuring area is eliminated is an important factor in the performance of luminance meters. In Florida Atlantic Luminance Meters, the new factor is built in to 0.1%, even if an object with extremely high luminance is just outside the meter's measuring area.

The graph at right shows the effect when a bright point is moved from A inside the measuring area to B just outside the measuring area if the measured value at A is defined as 100%. The measured value at B would be less than 0.1%.

The graph shows a vertical axis labeled 'measured value' with a scale from 0 to 100. The horizontal axis is labeled 'position' with points A and B marked. A curve starts at point A (100) and drops sharply to point B (0.1). A small inset diagram shows a circular measuring area with a point source at A and a point source at B.
