computing from the reasons why you'd want to go wireless in the first place to setting up your wireless network or accessing your wireless services on the road. The book provides a complete introduction to all the wireless technologies supported by Mac OS X including Wi-Fi 802.11b and g, infrared, Bluetooth, CDMA2000 and GPRS. You'll learn how to set up your first wireless network and how to use the Mac OS X software that supports wireless such as iSync, iChat and Rendezvous. You'll also get a good understanding of the limitations and liabilities of each wireless technology. Other topics covered in the book include Using wireless at home, in the office or on the road, Connecting to wireless hotspots, Wireless Security, Mac OS X Unwired. This is a one-stop wireless information source for technically savvy Mac users. If you're considering wireless as an alternative to cable and DSL or using wireless to network computers in your home or office, this book will show you the full spectrum view of wireless capabilities of Mac OS X and how to get the most out of them. Linux Journal, 2001

Computer and Computing Technologies in Agriculture, Volume I Daoliang Li, 2008-02-26. The papers in this volume comprise the refereed proceedings of the First International Conference on Computer and Computing Technologies in Agriculture CCTA 2007 in Wuyishan, China, 2007. This conference is organized by China Agricultural University, Chinese Society of Agricultural Engineering and the Beijing Society for Information Technology in Agriculture. The purpose of this conference is to facilitate the communication and cooperation between institutions and researchers on theories, methods and implementation of computer science and information technology. By researching information technology development and the sources integration in rural areas in China, an innovative and effective approach is expected to be explored to promote the technology application to the development of modern agriculture and contribute to the construction of new countryside. The rapid development of information technology has induced substantial changes and impact on the development of China's rural areas. Western thoughts have exerted great impact on studies of Chinese information technology development and it helps more Chinese and western scholars to expand their studies in this academic and application area. Thus, this conference with works by many prominent scholars has covered computer science and technology and information development in China's rural areas and probed into all the important issues and the newest research topics such as Agricultural Decision Support System and Expert System, GIS, GPS, RS and Precision Farming, CT applications in Rural Area, Agricultural System Simulation, Evolutionary Computing, etc.
