Life by Algorithms Catherine Besteman, Hugh Gusterson, 2019-05-23 Computerized processes are everywhere in our society. They are the automated phone messaging systems that businesses use to screen calls, the link between student standardized test scores and public schools' access to resources, the algorithms that regulate patient diagnoses and reimbursements to doctors. The storage, sorting, and analysis of massive amounts of information have enabled the automation of decision making at an unprecedented level. Meanwhile, computers have offered a model of cognition that increasingly shapes our approach to the world. The proliferation of robo-processes is the result, as editors Catherine Besteman and Hugh Gusterson observe in this rich and wide-ranging volume, which features contributions from a distinguished cast of scholars in anthropology, communications, international studies, and political science. Although automatic processes are designed to be engines of rational systems, the stories in Life by Algorithms reveal how they can in fact produce absurd, inflexible, or even dangerous outcomes. Joining the call for algorithmic transparency, the contributors bring exceptional sensitivity to everyday sociality into their critique to better understand how the perils of modern technology affect finance, medicine, education, housing, the workplace, food production, public space, and emotions, not as separate problems but as linked manifestations of a deeper defect in the fundamental ordering of our society. Contributors: Catherine Besteman, Alex Blanchette, Robert W. Gehl, Hugh Gusterson, Catherine Lutz, Ann Lutz Fernandez, Joseph Masco, Sally Engle Merry, Keesha M. Middlemass, Noelle Stout, Susan J. Terrio.

The Death and Life of the Great American School System Diane Ravitch, 2016-06-28 An urgent case for protecting public education from one of America's best-known education experts. In this landmark book, Diane Ravitch, former assistant secretary of education and a leader in the drive to create a national curriculum, examines her career in education reform and repudiates positions that she once staunchly advocated. Drawing on over forty years of research and experience, Ravitch critiques today's most popular ideas for restructuring schools, including privatization, the Common Core, standardized testing, the replacement of teachers by technology, charter schools, and vouchers. She shows conclusively why the business model is not an appropriate way to improve schools. Using examples from major cities like New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Denver, and San Diego, Ravitch makes the case that public education today is in peril and includes clear prescriptions for improving America's schools. The Death and Life of the Great American School System is more than just an analysis of the state of play of the American education system; it is a must-read for any stakeholder in the future of American schooling.

The New Education Cathy N. Davidson, 2017-09-05 A leading educational thinker argues that the American university is stuck in the past and shows how we can revolutionize it for our era of constant change. Our current system of higher education dates to the period from 1865 to 1925. It was in those decades that the nation's new universities created grades and departments, majors and minors, all in an attempt to prepare young people for a world transformed by the telegraph and the Model T. As Cathy N. Davidson argues in The New Education, this approach to education is wholly unsuited to the era of the gig economy From the Ivy League to community colleges she introduces us to innovators who are remaking college for our own time by emphasizing student centered learning that values creativity in the face of change above all The New Education ultimately shows how we can teach students not only to survive but to thrive amid the challenges to come If Einstein Ran the Schools Thomas Armstrong Ph.D.,2019-10-11 Many world class thinkers and creators have been concerned about the state of education in the United States Discover their thoughts on how children really learn and what teachers must do to optimally tap children s latent abilities During the last three decades education reformers have pushed standardized testing and policies like No Child Left Behind and Common Core to improve test scores and proficiency in basic skills However during this period that author Thomas Armstrong calls the miseducation of America a number of troubling trends have surfaced including a decrease in creative thinking scores among children in kindergarten through third grade Rather than focus on what s wrong with the education system that has produced these outcomes Armstrong lays out what creative thinkers know about how children should be educated In an extended thought experiment he asks what would happen if we turned the reins of educational policy over not to the politicians and educational bureaucrats but to eminent thinkers and creators like Albert Einstein Pablo Picasso Martin Luther King Jr Rachel Carson Doris Lessing Jane Goodall and other seminal culture builders What might they say about the best way to educate a child If Einstein Ran the Schools suggests that the answers to this intriguing question should guide future efforts to reform our nation s schools The College Classroom Assessment Compendium Jay Parkes,Dawn Zimmaro,2017-12-06 The College Classroom Assessment Compendium provides new and seasoned instructors with comprehensive strategies perspectives and solutions for the daily challenges and issues involved in student assessment Composed of cross referenced research based entries organized for effective and immediate access this book provides systematic explanations of assessment policies and practices including guidelines for classroom implementation Situated beyond the techniques covered in most instructor training and preparation these practical entries draw from a variety of disciplines and offer an invaluable reference for college instructors interested in developing coherent reliable classroom assessment climates Between Mission and Market Daniel Rosenberg,2017-04-26 Between Mission and Market The Freshman Year in a Corporate Age focuses on the arrival of college freshmen at the moment of the transformation it uses Adelphi University in suburban New York City to study an attempt to resolve first year difficulties As higher education institutions turn into enterprises run on business models the pressures of getting into college including the taking of the SAT and ACT have induced stress addictions eating disorders drug use and mental problems However special programs to ease the first year transition through counseling and support are run as cheaply as possible This book confronts some of the cardinal controversies in higher education particularly those affecting first year students high stakes testing in general particularly the SAT the intensification of student debt and the financial sentence imposed upon all who incur it and the dramatic pressures placed upon freshmen as they transition to college

Defending Assessment Security in a Digital World Phillip Dawson, 2020-10-26 Defending Assessment Security in a Digital World explores the phenomenon of e cheating and identifies ways to bolster assessment to ensure that it is secured against threats posed by technology Taking a multi disciplinary approach the book develops the concept of assessment security through research from cybersecurity game studies artificial intelligence and surveillance studies Throughout there is a rigorous examination of the ways people cheat in different contexts and the effectiveness of different approaches at stopping cheating This evidence informs the development of standards and metrics for assessment security and ways that assessment design can help address e cheating Its new concept of assessment security both complements and challenges traditional notions of academic integrity By focusing on proactive principles based approaches the book equips educators technologists and policymakers to address both current e cheating as well as future threats

Gendered Paths into STEM. Disparities Between Females and Males in STEM Over the Life-Span Bernhard Ertl, Silke Luttenberger, M. Gail Jones, Rebecca Lazarides, Manuela Paechter, 2020-01-31 Place, Not Race Sheryll Cashin, 2014-05-06 From a nationally recognized expert a fresh and original argument for bettering affirmative action Race based affirmative action had been declining as a factor in university admissions even before the recent spate of related cases arrived at the Supreme Court Since Ward Connerly kickstarted a state by state political mobilization against affirmative action in the mid 1990s the percentage of four year public colleges that consider racial or ethnic status in admissions has fallen from 60 percent to 35 percent Only 45 percent of private colleges still explicitly consider race with elite schools more likely to do so although they too have retreated For law professor and civil rights activist Sheryll Cashin this isn t entirely bad news because as she argues affirmative action as currently practiced does little to help disadvantaged people The truly disadvantaged black and brown children trapped in high poverty environs are not getting the quality schooling they need in part because backlash and wedge politics undermine any possibility for common sense public policies Using place instead of race in diversity programming she writes will better amend the structural disadvantages endured by many children of color while enhancing the possibility that we might one day move past the racial resentment that affirmative action engenders In Place Not Race Cashin reimagines affirmative action and champions place based policies arguing that college applicants who have thrived despite exposure to neighborhood or school poverty are deserving of special consideration Those blessed to have come of age in poverty free havens are not Sixty years since the historic decision we re undoubtedly far from meeting the promise of Brown v Board of Education but Cashin offers a new framework for true inclusion for the millions of children who live separate and unequal lives Her proposals include making standardized tests optional replacing merit based financial aid with need based financial aid and recruiting high achieving students from overlooked places among other steps that encourage cross racial alliances and social mobility A call for action toward the long overdue promise of equality Place Not Race persuasively shows how the social costs of racial preferences actually outweigh any of the marginal benefits when effective race neutral alternatives are available Washington Education Journal ,1928 Discipleship for Every Stage of Life Chris A. Kiesling,2024-06-18 The field of life span development in psychology has much to offer those engaged in making disciples and Chris Kiesling brings those insights to bear in this volume He appropriates the most useful observations from this discipline in light of biblical teaching Drawing on more than twenty five years of experience teaching faith development topics in academic and local church settings Kiesling assembles a toolkit that will help those in ministry think comprehensively about discipleship at every stage of life Taking into account physical cognitive emotional and social aspects of human development from infancy through older adulthood Kiesling guides readers in making practical use of these insights in churches and educational settings Pastors ministry leaders and educators will benefit from this treatment which brings cutting edge findings from the social sciences into dialogue with Scripture theology and practical ministry
