Grade 12 Isixhosa Paper Question:

English as a Language of Learning, Teaching and Inclusivity Liesel Hibbert, 2023-08-18 Hibbert explores South Africa's higher education crisis utilising case studies and first hand experiences with English as the language of instruction. The historical overview provides a framework with which to understand the complicated nature of using English as a language of instruction in South Africa past and present. Student narratives are presented to illustrate mainly breakthroughs but also challenges. An overview is provided of imported English teaching methodologies and how they have emerged and developed in the local educational system over decades. It is demonstrated how these methodologies relate to socio-economic and political events and trends at each juncture. By applying defamiliarisation as a research method of investigation, students' translanguaging struggles are recorded and discussed both pre-pandemic and in the pandemic period. The experiences of non-monolingual English speaking staff and students and of local English-African language bilinguals are foregrounded as they are by far the majority in South African higher education and schools. The relevance of the experiences and learning paths of those staff and students is enhanced. This book aids lecturers across disciplines and English language facilitators in the improvement of English acquisition curricula through exposure to arguments, case studies and learning path narratives in this volume and prompts and inspires researchers to develop further theories and experiments in their own context. Not Ever Absent: Storytelling in Arts, Culture and Identity Formation, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter-Disciplinary Press in 2015. Storytelling has always played a central role in the formation of cultures and communities. All cultures define themselves and their place in the world through their stories. Similarly, our identities are largely constructed as narratives and it is with the aid of storytelling that we manage to conceive of ourselves as meaningful wholes. Thus, storytelling is not ever absent; it is to be found in literature, social life in the places we visit and the buildings we live in. This volume presents storytelling in various appearances from ancient myths and oral history to transmedia narratives and digital stories. Different forms of narrative are analysed as is the use of storytelling as a method for e.g. counselling, education and research. Throughout twenty-five chapters, a compelling overview of recent research on the topic is provided, both stressing the omnipresence of storytelling and exploring what storytelling is and isn't. Postcolonial Polysystems Haidee Kruger, 2012 Postcolonial Polysystems: The Production and Reception of Translated Children's Literature in South Africa is an original and provocative contribution to the field of children's literature research and translation studies. It draws on a variety of methodologies to provide a perspective both product and process oriented on the ways in which translation contributes to the production of children's literature in South Africa with a special interest in language and power as well as post and neocolonial hybridity. The book explores the forces that affect the use of translation in producing children's literature in various languages in South Africa and shows how some of these forces precipitate in the selection, production and reception of translated children's books in Afrikaans and English. It breaks new ground in its interrogation of aspects of translation.
