Social Studies Education in East Asian Contexts Kerry J. Kennedy,2020-07-28 The book explores the state of social studies education within selected East Asian societies and provides some insights into distinctive classroom practices In an increasingly volatile and unpredictable world the education of young people who both understand the contexts in which they are growing up and see the need for engaging with them is a top priority This task falls to social studies education which carries the responsibility for inducting young people into their social world and helping them to see the role they can play within it This is particularly important in East Asia where strong economic growth long held cultural values and diverse political systems create an environment that challenges young people on multiple fronts This book with its team of regional authors shows how different societies in the region are dealing with these challenges and what can be expected from future citizens The book will appeal to policy makers researchers and teachers interested in the current state of social studies education in East Asian societies

Adapted Physical Education and Sport Joseph P. Winnick, David L. Porretta, 2016-09-13 The field of adapted physical education and sport has undergone numerous changes in recent years. This new edition of Adapted Physical Education and Sport will help you stay on top of those changes and in doing so provide the highest quality physical education and sport opportunities for students with disabilities. NEW MATERIAL The sixth edition of this well loved text builds on its successful previous editions and is replete with changes that are current with today's trends and practices in the field. As the inclusion movement continues to expand, the authors have revised several chapters to detail relevant inclusion practices and applications in both physical education and sport, helping to integrate students with disabilities into regular class and sport settings with guidelines for modifying activities. The chapter on adapted sport is further developed to communicate and reflect on progress in the field and includes a Sport Framework for Individuals with Disabilities model to help develop and implement sport programs. The book gives attention to the revised Brockport Physical Fitness Test and the accompanying web resource offers video clips that explain and demonstrate the criterion referenced health related tests that are applicable to many students with disabilities. Advances and applications pertaining to behavior management and wheelchair sport performance are covered in various chapters. The authors address the use of new technology as it relates to teaching and administration for adapted physical education and explore stand alone apps that can be used in conjunction with the book that are useful in behavior management, fitness, development, communication, social interaction and physical education activities. The authors give increased attention to the problem of obesity, particularly relevant to students with disabilities. Many new authors and a coeditor have been brought on board bringing fresh perspectives to the book and adding to the depth of experience provided by the returning authors and editor These additions help Adapted Physical Education and Sport maintain its reputation as a comprehensive user friendly text that helps teachers provide top quality services to people with unique physical education needs Greatly influenced by the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act this book helps in identifying the unique needs of students and developing physical education programs including individualized education programs IEPs for students with disabilities that are consistent with current federal legislation STRONG ANCILLARIES The text is augmented by its ancillaries which include an instructor guide test package presentation package and web resource with video The instructor guide offers chapter objectives additional resources and learning and enrichment activities that will help students master the content and extend their knowledge The test package helps in building custom tests using hundreds of test questions and answers You will find hundreds of PowerPoint slides that reinforce the text s key points in the presentation package and the web resource includes 26 videos of the new Brockport Physical Fitness Test in action as well as several reproducibles from the book DEEPENED UNDERSTANDING The authors renowned authorities in their fields use real life scenarios to introduce chapter concepts and then show how to apply the concepts in solving issues The text will help deepen understanding of the implications of disabilities for people through age 21 though much of the book is relevant in the entire life span It grounds readers in the foundational topics for adapted physical education and sport explores the developmental considerations involved and outlines activities for developing programs for people with unique physical education needs The book offers a four color design to draw attention to important elements and provides separate author and subject indexes as well as resources with each chapter and on the web resource for further exploration Adapted Physical Education and Sport supplies all that is needed for enriching the lives of students with disabilities by providing them with the high quality programs they deserve Annual Performance Plan Mpumalanga (South Africa). Southwick,Dennis S. Charney,2018-05-03 Most of us at some point in our lives will be struck by major traumas such as the sudden death of a loved one a debilitating disease assault or a natural disaster Resilience refers to the ability to bounce back after encountering difficulty This book provides a guide to building emotional mental and physical resilience by presenting ten factors to help anyone become more resilient to life's challenges. Specific resilience factors such as facing fear, optimism, and social support are described through the experiences and personal reflections of highly resilient survivors. These survivors also describe real-life methods for practicing and benefiting from the resilience factors. As resilience is the complex product of genetic, psychological, biological, social, and spiritual factors, the authors investigate resilience from multiple scientific perspectives. They synthesize the latest literature on the topic, describe their own research on resilience, and quote from their interviews with highly resilient people.

Natural Science Education, Indigenous Knowledge, and Sustainable Development in Rural and Urban Schools in Kenya Darren M. O'Hern, Yoshiko Nozaki, 2014-05-05

Through a multi-sited qualitative study of three Kenyan secondary schools in rural Taita Hills and urban Nairobi, the volume explores the ways the dichotomy between Western and indigenous knowledge operates in Kenyan education. In particular, it examines views on natural sciences expressed by the students, teachers, the state's curricula documents, and schools exam-oriented pedagogical approaches. O'Hern and Nozaki question state and local education policies and practices as they relate to natural science subjects such as agriculture, biology, and geography, and their dismissal of indigenous knowledge about environment, nature, and sustainable development. They suggest the need to develop critical postcolonial curriculum policies and practices of science education to overcome knowledge-oriented binaries, emphasize sustainable development, and address the problems of inequality, the center and periphery divide, and social, cultural, and environmental injustices in Kenya and by implication elsewhere. In an era of environmental crisis and devastation, education that supports sustainability and survival of our planet is needed. Within a broader sociopolitical context of postcolonialism and globalization, this volume points out possibilities and challenges to achieve such an education. The authors propose a critical postcolonial approach that acknowledges the contextual and situational production of all knowledge and that de-dichotomizes indigenous from Western scientific knowledge.
