Genesis Pro Features

Riser
 The main frame section on your Genesis Pro bow is machined 6061 T6 aluminum. The riser is engineered to provide the Genesis Pro with optimal balance and being built extremely durable and very lightweight.

Large cam-to-cable clearance area
 An increase in cam-to-cable adjustment accommodations many modern bows and allows for increased bow string compression. Stop: The Genesis Pro does not include a rest. Choose a rest that suits your needs and shooting style.

Outer Wheel
 The outer wheel is located at the upper limb of the bow. The main function of the outer wheel is to transfer stored energy from the bow limbs back through the string to the arrow in a smooth and repeat motion. The strings in the outer wheel are made of a very low friction synthetic material which reduces friction.

Limbs and Limb Hold
 The limbs on your Genesis Pro bow are aluminum's main step at the rear. They store the potential energy you put into the bow until the string is released. At the moment of release, the stored potential energy is transferred into string to motion, and the arrow is propelled toward the target.

The bow limbs attach the arrow to the bow and are also used to adjust the draw length on your bow. Using a limb bow wrench, the limb bolts can be turned in a counterclockwise direction to decrease the percentage of the bow to a minimum of 15 lbs. Turning the limb bolts clockwise will reach the bow to its maximum of 25 lbs. (Do not turn more than approximately 1/4 turn of draw weight.) The limb bolts on each limb should always be turned the same number of turns when adjusting bow percentage.

Like the original Genesis bow, the Genesis Pro will fit virtually everyone. Thanks to its bow length of 67" and the new Genesis® Pro bow's adjustable draw stop that enables the archer with a "hand rest" which allows shooting with a mechanical release will shoot.

Genesis Pro Bowstring System

The Genesis Pro bow features unique cam design. The unique-shaped cam allows the bow to maintain its air percentage through out the draw cycle. The advantage will act on the cam cables and guides for less string. When the bowstring is released, the air creates a "bunker effect" which results in a better arrow while increasing bow speed.

Draw Stop

Customizing the Genesis Pro to your draw length is easy! The draw stop on the Genesis Pro is adjusted with an Allen wrench. Simply turn the Outer Wheel counter-clockwise until it is completely released. Move it to the desired draw length position. Tighten with securely in place. Use the larger stainless steel stop to adjust to 17" (minimum) increments and the smaller stainless steel stop to adjust to 1" (maximum) increments.

ODI

The ODI (Outer Drive Inlet) on your Genesis bow is actually designed to fit the contours of your hand, providing both comfort and consistency.

Shooting

Be sure your Genesis Pro bow with a high strength, durable bowstring made from outside of the air materials. The bowstring provides superior performance, ensuring that the maximum amount of the bow's stored energy is transferred to the arrow.

Power Cable and Cable Guard

The power cable is the second component of the bowstring assembly. It is attached to the post on the upper limb and wraps around the release track on the cam which is mounted on the lower limb.

The cable guard is the metal rod which supports the sliding cable edge and helps the cable capture all of the side and out of the right path of the arrow.

Notching Point

The arrow rest on your bow must properly hold a string rest to ensure proper arrow position on the string for repeatable accuracy.

WARNING: Please contact the arrow rest and arrow weight and adjust to your bow's draw weight and draw length and use the arrow manufacturer's recommendations.
