their own Heron and Penfold also examine how Labour Day's monopoly as the workers holiday has been challenged since its founding with alternative festivals arising such as May Day and International Women's Day The Workers Festival ranges widely into many key themes of labour history union politics and rivalries radical movements religion Catholic and Protestant race and gender and consumerism leisure as well as cultural history public celebration urban procession urban space and communication and popular culture From St John's to Victoria the authors follow the century long development of the holiday in all its varied forms Global Cities At Work Jane Wills,Kavita Datta,Yara Evans,Joanna Herbert,Jon May,Cathy

Bulletin United States. Office of Education,1911 The Routledge Handbook of Literary Geographies Neal Alexander,David Cooper,2024-08-09 The Routledge Handbook of Literary Geographies provides a comprehensive overview of recent research and a range of innovative ways of thinking literature and geography together. It maps the history of literary geography and identifies key developments and debates in the field. Written by leading and emerging scholars from around the world, the 38 chapters are organised into six themed sections which consider differing critical methodologies, keywords and concepts, literary geography in the light of literary history, a variety of places, spaces and landforms, the significance of literary forms and genres, and the role of literary geographies beyond the academy. Presenting the work of scholars from different disciplinary backgrounds, each section offers readers new angles from which to view the convergence of literary creativity and geographical thought. Collectively, the contributors also address some of the major issues of our time, including the climate emergency, movement and migration, and the politics of place. Literary geography is a dynamic interdisciplinary field dedicated to exploring the complex relationships between geography and literature. This cutting-edge collection will be an essential resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students in both Geography and Literary Studies, and scholars interested in the evolving interface between the two disciplines.

The Nation, 1867 Governance for Pro-Poor Urban Development Franklin Obeng-Odoom, 2013-07-18. The world development institutions commonly present urban governance as an antidote to the so-called urbanisation of poverty and parasitic urbanism in Africa. Governance for Pro-Poor Urban Development is a comprehensive and systematic analysis of the meaning, nature and effects of urban governance in theory and in practice, with a focus on Ghana, a country widely regarded as an island of good governance in the sub-region. The book illustrates how diverse groups experience urban governance differently and contextualizes how this experience has worsened social differentiation in cities. This book will be of great interest to students, teachers and researchers in development studies and highly relevant to anyone with an interest in urban studies, geography, political economy, sociology and African studies.

The Journal of Education, 1915 World of Walls Said Saddiki, 2017-10-09. We're going to build a wall. Borders have been drawn since the beginning of time, but in recent years, artificial barriers have become increasingly significant to the political conversation across the world. Donald Trump was elected President of the United States while promising to build a wall on the Mexico border, and in Europe, the international movements of migrants and refugees have sparked fierce discussion about whether and how countries should restrict access to their territory by erecting physical barriers. Virtual walls are also built and crushed at increasing speed. In the post-9/11 era, there is a greater danger from so-called transnational non-state actors and computer hacking and cyberterrorism threaten to overwhelm our technological barriers. In this timely and original book, Said Saddiki scrutinises the physical and virtual walls located in four continents, including Israel, India, the southern EU border, Morocco, and the proposed border wall between Mexico and the US. Saddiki's detailed analysis explores the tensions between the rise of globalisation, which some have argued will lead to a borderless world and the end of the nation-state, and the rapid development in recent decades of border control systems. Saddiki examines both regular and irregular cross-border activities, including the flow of people, goods, ideas, drugs, weapons, capital, and information, and explores the disparities that are reflected by barriers to such activities He considers the consequences of the construction of physical and virtual walls including their impact on international relations and the rise of the multi billion dollar security market World of Walls The Structure Roles and Effectiveness of Separation Barriers is important reading for all those interested in the topics of immigration border security international relations and policy Designing Mobility and Transport Services Mike Tovey, Andree Woodcock, Jane Osmond, 2016-11-10 European cities increasingly face problems caused by transport and traffic For many people transport provision is unsatisfactory and current arrangements are leading to a deteriorating environment A fundamental problem is that our currently fragmented approach makes it difficult to understand fully the circumstances and needs of transport users In any overall approach public transport is a crucial component Designing Mobility and Transport Services shows how these issues can be addressed and resolved The development of an inclusive validated passenger experience measurement instrument is the first step in understanding the situation and thus tackling it It is needed if we are to create high quality user centred integrated accessible public transport services which are capable of attracting and retaining public transport users whilst meeting sustainability targets The METPEX research project was devised to tackle these issues Coordinated by Coventry University the METPEX consortium brought together 16 European partners from 12 countries The project s underlying rationale was the proposition that if transport operators and authorities were provided with a robust reliable and tailorable means of measuring the whole multimodal passenger journey they could improve service provision The book describes how such an improvement can be achieved to attract travellers out of their private vehicles thereby reducing congestion and pollution and increasing health and well being It provides a template for a creative approach and a meta design narrative in designing for transport systems to enhance mobility choices by improving the door to door journey and thus underpin sustainable transport initiatives
