Committee on Education,1857 Assessment in Geographical Education: An International Perspective Theresa Bourke,Reece Mills,Rod Lane,2022-02-27 In recent years there has been increased attention paid to the importance of assessment in Geographical Education the chosen subject for this book Assessment is an important tool for collecting information about student learning and for providing timely data to inform key stakeholders including students teachers parents and policymakers To be effective assessment needs to be valid reliable and fair Validity is about ensuring that we assess what we claim we are assessing Reliability is about measuring performance and understanding in a consistent way Without validity and reliability assessment is unlikely to provide equitable opportunities for students to demonstrate what they know and can do As geography educators it is therefore important that we identify the core concepts and skills in geography that we want students to master We need a clear understanding of what the progression of learning looks like for each concept and skill so we can develop fit for purpose assessments that track and improve student learning While there is a substantial literature on evidence based assessment in secondary school contexts research exploring best practice assessment in geography is rare This is a concern given the distinctive nature of geography and the important role of assessment in the learning process This scholarly collection seeks to address this issue by connecting research in educational assessment with the domain of geography The chapters are written by leading researchers in Geographical Education from across the globe These chapters provide examples of innovation through the collective voices of geography teacher educator scholars from across Australia USA South Korea Germany Switzerland and Singapore What unifies the work in this book is that each chapter focuses on a key feature of the discipline of geography providing scholarly examples of evidence based practices for assessing student s knowledge and skills Spatial Information Theory. Foundations of Geographic Information Science Werner Kuhn,Michael F. Worboys,Sabine Timpf,2003-10-25 COSIT theseriesofConferencesonSpatialInformationTheory hasbeenaround for more than ten years Its hallmarks are a fruitful interdisciplinary dialogue between computational and human perspectives on spatio temporal information and a thorough review process that selects the best papers while giving all authors detailed feedback on how to develop their work. A clear profile of the COSIT community has emerged from the series of conference proceedings all published as Springer Lecture Notes in Computer Science and from the permanent web site at <http://www.cosit.info> containing links to the conference web sites and proceedings, a history and program of the series, an impact study, interviews with participants and pictures. The proceedings of this sixth conference provide ample evidence that COSIT is healthy and maturing while retaining its youth. Out of the 61 submissions, the program committee selected 26 papers for presentation in discussions based on at least three double-blind reviews and one or more meta-review from PC members for each paper. Classical COSIT themes such as spatial reasoning about distances and directions, regions and shapes or vagueness are being further refined; topics like wayfinding and landmarks are boosted by new synergies between cognitive and computational approaches and the study of ontologies for space and time, a subject since the first COSIT is gaining more depth.

Monographic Series Library of Congress, 1979 Gibson's (Guide to) Preliminary law examination (by J. and A. Gibson). John Gibson, 1882 Primary Education, Popular Educator, 1926 Examinations John C. Mathews, 2021-11-29. First Published in 1985. Examinations presents a balanced overview and commentary on all the main aspects of public examinations. The key themes are examinations and their context, historical, political, social and educational functions of examination, how they work, equity and fairness of the process and future of public examinations. Recurring issues in the book are the tension between the need for common national standards and the need for diverse individuality and the conflict between competitive functions of examinations as instruments of selection and their descriptive function as reports on standards of performance. The author argues that the main aspects of examinations are not given a prominent place in the training of teachers though public examinations have widespread impact on society. This book will be an essential read for scholars and researchers of education, higher education and also for administrators and policy makers.
