Resource Extraction and Contentious States Matthew G. Allen, 2018-03-20 This Pivot offers a comprehensive cross country study of the effects of large scale resource extraction in Asia Pacific considering how large scale extractive industries engender contentious social political and economic questions Addressing the strong association in Melanesia between extractive resource industries and a spectrum of violence ranging from interpersonal to collective forms it questions whether islands are particularly potent spaces for the contentious politics that attend enclave economies The book brings island studies literature into a closer conversation with political and economic geography demonstrating that islands provide rich spaces for the investigation of the socio spatial relations at the heart of human geography's theoretical cannon The book also has a real world policy edge as the sustained and growing dominance of extractive industries in concert with the highly contentious politics that they engender places them at the centre of efforts to understand state formation political reordering and the on going negotiation of political settlements of various types throughout post colonial

Melanesia It considers how extractive resource industries can shape processes of state formation shedding new light on Melanesia's resource curse

Mirror Images in Different Frames? Francis E Hutchinson, 2015-04-09 In the early 1990s Singapore the Malaysian state of Johor and the Riau Islands in Indonesia sought to leverage their proximity differing factor endowments and good logistics connections to market themselves as an integrated unit Beyond national level support in all three countries the initiative had the support of state and provincial leaders in Johor and Riau respectively Now however the situation is markedly different The Malaysian government and its Johorean equivalent have invested considerable resources in encouraging closer integration with Singapore For its part the Indonesian central government has been promoting special economic zones and export oriented activities However the provincial government of the Riau Islands has turned away from export oriented industrialization preferring instead to promote cultural sub nationalism and traditional economic activities such as fishing and small scale farming This development is counter intuitive Traditional fiscal federalism theory argues that decentralization encourages competition between provinces for investment jobs and growth While Indonesia has undergone one of the world s most far reaching decentralization reforms Malaysia has pursued a consistent centralization campaign at the expense of state governments Thus we would expect the Riau Islands entrepreneurial drive to be unleashed and Johor s to be smothered However Johor s drive for capital is undiminished while the Riau Islands pursuit of investment has dissipated This monograph will explore the reasons for this paradox This book provides a path breaking analysis of how Johor and the Riau Islands have competed with each other for FDI from Singapore in the electronics sector It sheds light on how the institutional and incentive structures facing these regions have encouraged or discouraged policy innovation and dynamism The rigorous analysis of financial and investment data in this book provides a convincing challenge to the conventional wisdom that proximity and cost differentials inevitably lead to closer economic integration Professor Shujiro Urata Waseda University
