

CER Investigation Unit 4A:

What impacts did the changes and tensions of the 1920s have on American founding ideals?

First, establish historical context by discussing what America is like during the Roaring 20s:

In the 1920s, the United States was in a period of great prosperity and economic growth. It was also an age of cultural transformation. On January 17th, 1920, the 18th Amendment was ratified. It made the drinking and consumption of alcohol illegal in the United States, but because of bootlegging, violence, etc., people started to question the amendment's effectiveness. Later, on December 5th, 1933, the 18th Amendment for prohibition was repealed. Also in the 1920s, many religious and cultural transformations occurred in the United States.

Craft a thesis statement in response to the investigative question. Include a clear line of reasoning:

The changes and tensions during the 1920s had a positive impact on opportunity.

USING EVIDENCE FROM THE UNIT, outline the topic sentence to three possible paragraphs that support your claim. Ensure to provide SPECIFIC reasoning & evidence from the unit to corroborate your supporting statements.

Supporting Statement #1: In the 1920s, many women started to get educated and employed.

Reasoning and Evidence for Supporting Statement #1 (FROM THE UNIT): According to the textbook, "History Alive! Pursuing American Ideals, "The number of women completing high school doubled during the decade. By the 1920s, one out of every four college faculty members was a woman. Women were entering many professions once open only to men. The number of women professionals rose by 50 percent by the end of the decade" (Hart 271). This shows that women started getting more opportunities in education and labor, so they could live independently without being forced to do housework and depend on men. This shows that more women started to get more opportunities in 1920s America.
