Assessment of the Department of Veterans Affairs Airborne Hazards and Open Burn Pit Registry National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, Board on the Health of Select Populations, Committee on the Assessment of the Department of Veterans Affairs Airborne Hazards and Open Burn Pit Registry, 2017-03-28 Military operations produce a great deal of trash in an environment where standard waste management practices may be subordinated to more pressing concerns. As a result, ground forces have long relied on incineration in open air pits as a means of getting rid of refuse. Concerns over possible adverse effects of exposure to smoke from trash burning in the theater were first expressed in the wake of the 1990-1991 Gulf War and stimulated a series of studies that indicated that exposures to smoke from oil well fires and from other combustion sources including waste burning were stressors for troops. In January 2013, Congress directed the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) to establish and maintain a registry for service members who may have been exposed to toxic airborne chemicals and fumes generated by open burn pits. The Assessment of the Department of Veterans Affairs Airborne Hazards and Open Burn Pit Registry analyzes the initial months of data collected by the registry and offers recommendations on ways to improve the instrument and best use the information it collects. This report assesses the effectiveness of the VA's information gathering efforts and provides recommendations for addressing the future medical needs of the affected groups and provides recommendations on collecting, maintaining, and monitoring information collected by the VA's Airborne Hazards and Open Burn Pit Registry.

The Bronx was one of the hardest hit boroughs of New York City with significant negative impact of the COVID 19 pandemic on its indigent population. SBH Health System, formerly known as St. Barnabas Hospital, is an integrated system of an acute care hospital, ambulatory care center, trauma center, dialysis center, stroke center, and other services and facilities serving the community of the Bronx. The story of SBH in preparing for and managing the rapidly escalating surge of severely ill patients is a treasure of lessons in health crisis preparedness and management at all levels: clinical, administrative, financial, etc. These lessons can be used for other acute care hospital settings and other potential health crises that may arise in the future. Within a short 3 weeks, SBH increased its inpatient capacity by 50%. However, during the same short time, it increased its critical care capacity by over 500%, providing critical care to severely ill patients on ventilators. This book chronicles the situation step by step and describes how this accomplishment was done Accounts from the frontline health workers and from the clinical and administrative leaders describe important aspects of crisis management such as team building multi departmental coordination effective communications dynamic decision making in response to rapidly changing situations keeping up the morale and caring for the healthcare workers and managing the supply chain The uniqueness of the experience of SBH is enhanced by the fact that SBH is a low budget safety net hospital serving the poorest population in New York City The worldwide trend is toward tighter healthcare budgets with demands for higher efficiency and productivity There is a lot to be learned from the SBH health crisis management including how efficient management team building management of limited resources and collaborative workplace culture make the foundation of success in the face of the crisis of the century This unique text serves as a how to guide for implementing skills necessary for crisis management Lessons from the success of SBH in tackling the dramatically fast unfolding crisis are utilized in a clear and concise manner Such lessons may benefit other health systems and hospitals in planning and preparing for similar crises
