Cooperation Kristina Obecny, Gregory Sanders, 2017-07-17 This study evaluates the health of the U S Canadian defense industrial relationship which is critically important as the U S Department of Defense expands the national technology and industrial base The CSIS study team gathered and analyzed a wide range of quantitative data and conducted interviews with government and industry officials involved with bilateral cooperation on both sides of the border In addition to looking at top level history legislation policy and trends the study team undertook five sectoral case studies highlighting different aspects of the benefits from and challenges facing bilateral cooperation The study finds that the benefits to both partners exceed what either could obtain solely by relying only on its own national resources While the overall U S Canadian defense industrial relationship remains sound the study team identifies a range of recommendations to enhance its value to both partners

Technical Abstract Bulletin , 1981 Canada and Ballistic Missile Defence, 1954-2009 James G. Fergusson, 2011-01-01 Since the mid 1950s successive Canadian governments have grappled with the issue of Canada s role in US ballistic missile defence programs Until Paul Martin s government finally said no policy makers responded to US initiatives with fear and uncertainty as they endlessly debated the implications at home and abroad of participation However whether this is the end of the story remains to be seen Drawing on previously classified government documents and interviews with senior officials James Fergusson examines Canada s policy deliberations during five major US initiatives He reveals that a combination of factors such as weak leadership and a tendency to place uncertain and ill defined notions of international peace and security before national defence resulted in indecision on what role Canada would play in ballistic missile defence In effect policy makers have failed to transform debates about the issue into an opportunity to define Canada s strategic interests at home and on the world stage Canada and Ballistic Missile Defense is the first comprehensive account of Canada s response and indecision regarding US ballistic missile defence initiatives and the implications of this inaction Creating the Cold War

University Rebecca S. Lowen, 1997-07-01 The cold war university is the academic component of the military industrial academic complex and its archetype according to Rebecca Lowen is Stanford University Her book challenges the conventional wisdom that the post World War II multiversity was created by military patrons on the one hand and academic scientists on the other and points instead to the crucial role played by university administrators in making their universities dependent upon military foundation and industrial patronage Contesting the view that the federal grant university originated with the outpouring of federal support for science after the war Lowen shows how the Depression had put financial pressure on universities and pushed administrators to seek new modes of funding She also details the ways that Stanford administrators transformed their institution to attract patronage With the end of the cold war and the tightening of federal budgets universities again face pressures not unlike those of the 1930s Lowen s analysis of how the university became dependent on the State is essential reading for anyone concerned about the future of higher education in the post cold war era Management Training Programs in Higher Education for the Fourth Industrial Revolution: Emerging Research and
