Genesis Pro Features

Riser
The riser (handle section) of your Genesis Pro bow is machined from 7075 aluminum. This material is engineered to provide the Genesis Pro with optimum balance while being both extremely durable and very lightweight.

Longer stabilization distance area
An expanded range of stabilization adjustments to accommodate many modern hunting bow styles for enhanced bow tuning techniques. Note: The Genesis Pro does not include a rest. Choose a rest that suits your needs and shooting style.

Idler Wheel
The idler wheel is located on the upper limb of the bow. The main function of the idler wheel is to transfer stored energy from the bow limbs back through the string to the arrow in a smooth cam-type fashion. The bowstring in the idler wheel are made of a very low-friction synthetic material which endures maximum load duration.

Limbs and Limb Bolts
The limbs on your Genesis Pro bow are mounted to each end of the riser. They store the potential energy you put into the bow until the string is released. At the moment of release, the stored potential energy is then turned into energy in motion, used to propel a projectile toward the target.
The limb bolts adjust the draw weight of your bow, using a 5/32 Allen wrench. The limb bolts can be turned in a counterclockwise direction to decrease the poundage of the bow to a minimum of 10 lbs. Turning the limb bolts clockwise will return the bow to its maximum of 70 lbs. One full turn causes approximately 1½ lbs. of draw weight.
The limb bolts on each limb should always be turned the same number of turns when adjusting bow poundage.

Genesis Pro AutoCam System
Your Genesis Pro bow features single cam design. The elliptical shaped cam allows the bow to maintain the set poundage throughout the draw cycle. The extended pulley arm on the cam rotates and guides the bowstring. When the bowstring is released, the cam provides a mechanical effect, which results in a faster arrow after the bowstring has stored.

Draw Stop
Customize/adjust the Genesis Pro to your draw length in inches!
The draw stop on the Genesis® Pro is adjustable with an Allen wrench. Simply turn the Draw Stop counter-clockwise until it completely removed. Insert it to the desired Draw Stop position, tighten until securely in place. Use the larger diameter draw stop to adjust in ½" (approx.) increments and the smaller diameter draw stop to adjust in ¼" (approx.) increments.

Grip
The Genesis model you've your Genesis bow is specially designed to fit the contours of your hand, providing both comfort and consistency.

Bowstring
We equip each Genesis Pro bow with a high strength, durable bowstring made from state-of-the-art materials. This bowstring provides superior performance, ensuring that the maximum amount of the bow's stored energy is transferred to the arrow.

Power Cable and Cable Guard
The power cable is the silicone component of the bowstring assembly. It is anchored at the axle on the upper limb and wraps around the axle on the lower limb.
The cable guard is the metal rod which you point the string cable cage that keeps the cable roughly off to one side and out of the flight path of the arrow.

Nocking Point
Prior to your initial shot (shot) it is necessary install a string mark to ensure proper arrow position on the string for dependable accuracy.

WARNING! Make certain that arrows used are of proper weight and stiffness for your bow's draw weight and draw length. Use only those arrow manufacturer's recommended.
