Techera, Natalie Klein, 2017-04-18 In International Law of Sharks Erika J Techera and Natalie Klein provide an in depth analysis of the current legal frameworks that relate to these important species The authors offer ways in which to overcome obstacles that prevent existing laws from working better and identify best practice global governance options while highlighting opportunities for legal reform Scientific evidence indicates that sharks play a critical role in maintaining marine ecosystem health yet current governance regimes have not been effective and many shark species continue to diminish In this context effective laws are critical to improve sharks conservation status This volume also explores the broader relevance of oceans governance by identifying appropriate legal frameworks and regulatory mechanisms that balance conservation and utilisation of marine species in general Carbon Management, Technologies, and Trends in Mediterranean Ecosystems Sabit Erşahin, Selim Kapur, Erhan Akça, Ayten Namlı, Hakkı Emrah Erdoğan, 2016-12-08 This book pursues a unique approach investigating both the ecological and socio economic aspects of carbon management in Mediterranean ecosystems All chapters are based on papers originally presented at the 1st Istanbul Carbon Summit held at Istanbul Technical University 2 4 April 2014 and revised following a peer review process The book addresses the summit's three main themes carbon management carbon technologies and carbon trends while also offering chapters on the economic aspects of carbon management and the ecological aspects of the carbon cycle The chapters on economic aspects analyze the carbon trade and its institutional political and legislative structures in different Mediterranean nations while those on ecological aspects review the discourse on and analysis of the related ecological factors and their feedback due to governance processes

Philanthropic Foundations in International Development Patrick Kilby, 2021-05-03 This book focuses on the influence of philanthropic foundations in global development and on how the global south has engaged with them The idea of corporate philanthropy stretches back a long way with the late 19th industrialist Andrew Carnegie seeing it as an important obligation of the very wealthy In the modern day Bill Gates has taken up this call suggesting that the very wealthy should donate half their wealth to philanthropic causes and endowing his own foundation with something in the order of 50 billion This book brings together case studies of the most influential of these foundations over the last one hundred years the Rockefeller Ford and Gates Foundations investigating their impact on education and research health and agriculture The book concludes by asking whether global south foundations such as Al Waleed Philanthropies Tata Trusts and those from China may point to the future of global philanthropic foundations The sheer scale of resources that foundations can devote to their work results in significant influence in global politics to the point that Foundations can drive and even set government policy This influence is likely to grow in the post Covid environment making this book an important resource for researchers practitioners and policy makers working on global development

Rural Transformations and Agro-Food Systems Ben M. McKay, Ruth Hall, Juan Liu, 2018-10-05 The economic and political rise of the BRICS Brazil Russia India China and South Africa and Middle Income Countries MICs have important implications for global agrarian transformation These emerging economies are undergoing profound changes as key sites of the production circulation and consumption of agricultural commodities hosts to abundant cheap labour and natural resources and home to growing numbers of both poor but also increasingly affluent consumers Separately and together these countries are shaping international development agendas both as partners in and potential alternatives to the development paradigms promoted by the established hubs of global capital in the North Atlantic and by dominant international financial institutions Collectively the chapters in this book show the significance of BRICS countries in reshaping agro food systems at the national and regional level as well as their global significance As they export their own farming and production systems across different contexts though the outcomes are contingent and success is not assured At the same time BRICS may represent a continuation rather than an alternative to the development paradigms of the Global North The chapters were originally published in a special issue of Third World Thematics A TWQ Journal
