

JANUARY ... DOES IT BRING YOU JOY?

- 1 January is the time for renewal on many fronts. It's the time of the year to re-evaluate everything. If something or someone doesn't bring you joy, it's pretty pointless carrying on with it. If we want the best, we must do our best. We must keep our family space safe and secure so that we are thriving as a people and as a nation. 5
- 2 In order to live their best lives, people are spreading themselves thinner and thinner with multiple streams of income. In the process we earn more but live less, we lose our focus of what is important.
- 3 With social media, keeping up with other Instagrammers are having a devastating effect on self-perception. Everything appears to be real perfect, but the fabric of our society is frazzled. Use January to take stock and start navigating new ways of doing things. Instead of multiple streams of sole sessions, travel more, and connect with people and places that bring you joy. 10

argue that four key assumptions about the Berlin Wall crisis in 1961 can no longer be upheld 1 The claim that Kennedy had stood firm on Berlin and merely continued the Eisenhower posture on Berlin is wrong Instead the Kennedy administration attempted to find new approaches to Berlin and Germany in line with its general revision of US foreign policy 2 The notion that the closing of the sector border came as a surprise is not supported by the documents President Kennedy had been informed numerous times that a closing of the sector border could be expected within the year 3 Adenauer s policy to prevent diplomatic recognition of the GDR contributed to an escalation of Washington s search for alternative policy options rather than slowing them The West German election campaign in 1961 further limited the chancellor s willingness to make changes to his foreign policy The Kennedy administration eventually sought accommodation with Khrushchev without consulting Bonn 4 Inherent conceptual mistakes in Kennedy s early foreign policy agenda exacerbated the crisis rather than contributed to its eventual solution An additional lack of trust between West Germany and the United States complicated and delayed the attempt to find a more coherent unified Western approach All four Western governments anticipated an end to the refugee flow through West Berlin as the first step in a crisis escalation while developing no contingency plans for this step The lack of any political intention to prevent the expected stop of the refugee flow became the casting mould for Ulbricht s plan to close the sector border a plan Khrushchev eventually made his own By leaving Ulbricht and Khrushchev with only one option Western policies on Berlin and Germany unwillingly conspired to force East Germany to face its systemic flaws in the summer of 1961

The Specter of Neutralism H. W. Brands, 1989 Following WW II the response by Britain France and Holland to rejuvenated colonial nationalist movements was patently inadequate Their ineffective counter was further exacerbated by Soviet expansion and the corresponding need to redeploy resources to protect the mother countries At the same time newly independent former colonies had no wish to become captives to the developing Cold War Indeed it may be argued that the Truman Doctrine was designed to serve notice on the USSR that the Third World was not up for grabs Thus the postwar decades found the US and the USSR in often violent conflict over the allegiance of less developed nations around the globe Results of this American intervention in the Third World are traditionally viewed by diplomatic historians as ranging from minor damage to disaster In contrast Brands insists this conventional wisdom is far from the mark He agrees that US officials often spoke possibly even thought in ideological terms but those same policy makers tended to act in a nonideological and remarkably successful fashion Using American policy towards Yugoslavia Egypt and India as case studies Brands presents a very convincing thesis in this remarkably engaging if controversial extended essay Choice Reviews
