petty financial economy that developed as a result Laurence Fontaine unpacks the values that structured these lending practices namely the two competing cultures of credit that coexisted fought and sometimes merged the vibrant aristocratic culture and the capitalistic merchant culture More broadly Fontaine shows how economic trust between individuals was constructed in the early modern world By creating a dialogue between past and present and contrasting their definitions of poverty the role of the market and the mechanisms of microcredit Fontaine draws attention to the necessity of recognizing the different values that coexist in diverse political economies
