Hilty, 2014-12-05 This book is highly topical The shift from the multilateral WTO negotiations to bilateral and regional Free Trade Agreements has been going on for some time but it is bound to accelerate after the WTO Doha round of negotiations is now widely regarded as a failure However there is a particular regional angle to this topic as well After concluding that further progress in the Doha round was unlikely Pacific Rim nations recently have progressed with the negotiations of a greatly expanded Trans Pacific Partnership Agreement that includes industrialised economies and developed countries such as the United States Japan Australia and New Zealand recently emerged economies such as Singapore but also several developing countries in Asia and Latin America such as Malaysia and Vietnam US and EU led efforts to conclude FTAs with Asia Pacific nations are also bound to accelerate again after a temporary slowdown in the negotiations following the change of government in the United States and the expiry of the US President's fast track negotiation authority The book will provide an assessment of these dynamics in the world's fastest growing region It will look at the IP chapters from a legal perspective but also put the developments into a socio economic and political context Many agreements in fact are concluded because of this context rather than for purely economic reasons or to achieve progress in fields like IP law The structure of the book follows an outline that groups countries into interest alliances according to their respective IP priorities This ranges from the driving forces of the EU US and Japan via Asia Pacific resource rich but IP poor economies such as Australia and New Zealand recently emerged economies with strong IP systems such as Singapore and Korea to leading developing countries such as China and India and second tier industrializing economies such as Thailand Malaysia and Indonesia Business Law - II Mr. Rohit Manglik, 2024-03-17 EduGorilla

Schwartz, 2016-09-23 Several decades ago a typical arbitration would involve one claimant against one respondent Over the years more and more cases involve several claimants against several respondents Today one third of all international ICC arbitrations seem to involve multiparty cases multi contract cases involving multiple contracts multiple parties The evolution has continued and the debate today is whether it would be possible for a class of people in the same situation or a group of citizens having the same interest to start one single arbitration procedure as a group or as a class This publication examines the complex issues involved in class or group arbitration on a comparative law basis Is there a place for such proceedings within the framework of the arbitration process Class action procedures as developed in the United States court system and more recently in Canada are almost nonexistent in Europe The European Commission has advocated collective redress as an important means of access to justice but class actions have found little enthusiasm in the Members States The book highlights the lessons which have been learned from the experience of cases in the US and in Europe What does the future hold for class collective and mass arbitrations Are they a marginal phenomenon or has their potential yet to be realized What are possible solutions to the issues that have been encountered Can we expect to see more of such arbitrations in the future Written by arbitrators academics and practitioners this Dossier will provide the answers to these questions and many more From Saviour to Guarantor Fabio Bassan, Carlo D. Mottura, 2015-08-25 State guarantees commonly function as financial panacea allowing states to consolidate banking systems and create intergovernmental funds Rules surrounding state guarantees were relaxed during the 2007 2008 financial crisis allowing states to use them for financing small and medium sized enterprises SMEs and workers severance payments Despite many multi level interventions in many areas after the financial crisis from international treaties to EU regulations no specific regulation has been put in place to control state guarantees This book addresses the subject of state guarantees in the Eurozone and questions the stability of the instruments implemented so far by states and by the European Union Using a methodology combining law and finance it examines the tools adopted by European institutions and Member States in the EU s evolving institutional context in order to evaluate the effectiveness of the tools themselves as well as of the new European institutional framework It also addresses the unconventional measures adopted by the European Central Bank its role as safeguard for European state guarantees and its interaction with the European Union and national courts In From Saviour to Guarantor the authors suggest that the absence of specific regulatory interventions and the variety and vagueness of existing rules has resulted in state guarantees further destabilising public international finance
