Politics and the Urban Frontier Tom Goodfellow,2022-09-26 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations Despite the rise of global technocratic ideals of city making cities around the world are not merging into indistinguishable duplicates of one another In fact as the world urbanizes urban formations remain diverse in their socioeconomic and spatial characteristics with varying potential to foster economic development and social justice In this book Tom Goodfellow argues that these differences are primarily rooted in politics and if we continue to view cities as economic and technological projects to be managed rather than terrains of political bargaining and contestation the quest for better urban futures is doomed to fail Dominant critical approaches to urban development tend to explain difference with reference to the variegated impacts of neoliberal regulatory institutions This however neglects the multiple ways in which the wider politics of capital accumulation and distribution drive divergent forms of transformation in different urban places In order to unpack the politics that shapes differential urban development this book focuses on East Africa as the global urban frontier the least urbanized but fastest urbanizing region in the world Drawing on a decade of research spanning three case study countries Ethiopia Rwanda and Uganda Politics and the Urban Frontier provides the first sustained book length comparative analysis of urban development trajectories in Eastern Africa and the political dynamics that underpin them Through a focus on infrastructure investment urban propertyscapes street level trading economies and urban political protest it offers a multi scalar historically grounded and interdisciplinary analysis of the urban transformations unfolding in the world s most dynamic crucible of urban change

Everything in Its Place David B. Audretsch, 2015-03-02 Every city region and state wants to do better or at the very least not do worse Places have a strong and vigorous concern with and stake in generating a stronger economic performance This concern spans a broad spectrum of constituents and interests including business labor non profit organizations government and private residents However such decision makers mandated with the strategic management of their place receive little guidance or insight from scholars in terms of a systematic framework for evaluating how to generate and sustain a competitive advantage for their place While an entire academic field exists devoted to analyzing how firms and organizations can create and sustain a competitive advantage and ultimately a strong economic performance the field of strategic management in business schools no such analogous field exists which is devoted to guiding and informing decision makers mandated and concerned with the strategic management of their place Everything in Its Place seeks to fill this intellectual void explaining the underlying economic and social factors and the broad spectrum of policies and instruments that can actually influence and enhance economic performance in places Several academic fields have generated a number of important theories empirical findings and case studies that shed considerable light on identifying and unraveling the underlying forces about what shapes this economic performance Combined in this book with the actual experiences and instincts garnered from practitioners and policy makers these insights are integrated together in into a coherent inclusive framework to guide and inform thought leaders and scholars in the strategic management of places     Perspecta 56
