Human Development Report:

Human Development Report, 2005      Human Development Report 2023/2024 United Nations Development Programme, 2024-03-13 Today collective action on challenges ranging from climate change mitigation to peace and security is frustratingly slow or stymied altogether Lack of trust and polarization both associated with insecurity exacerbate the gridlock Shared interlinked global challenges like the pandemic and its recovery are outpacing our willingness and our institutions capacities to respond to them Why despite all our riches and technologies are we so stuck How do we get unstuck Is it possible to mobilize action to address globally shared challenges in a world that is intensively polarized The 2023 2024 Human Development Report explores these issues and offers a platform for strategic discussion on how to move beyond narrow zero sum thinking and support cooperation even as we have diverging interests and views The e book for this publication has been converted into an accessible format for the visually impaired and people with print reading disabilities It is fully compatible with leading screen reader technologies such as JAWS and NVDA      Human Development Report 1992 United Nations Development Programme, 1992 Since its headline making debut the Human Development Report has become an essential resource for development specialists economists and political scientists around the world The 1992 Report not only updates the findings of the earlier volumes but also examines the international dimensions of human development showing how global economic growth and the expansion of the world economy have filtered down to poor economies and poor people in developing countries In addition it examines tpcps between human development and international markets for products capital and labor addresses issues of global governance and presents updated human development indicators for more than 160 countries      Human Development Report 2004 United Nations Development Programme, 2004 This is the 15th report prepared by a team of independent experts which explores major development issues of global concern The 2004 report focuses on issues of cultural liberty and concludes that countries must actively devise multicultural policies to prevent cultural discrimination whether on grounds of religion ethnicity or language since the expansion of cultural freedoms is at the core of human development Rather than presenting a threat to state unity the report argues that diversity is the only sustainable option to promote stability and democracy within and across societies Issues discussed include confronting extremist movements for cultural domination myths surrounding cultural liberty and development the impact of globalisation on cultural choice social exclusion human rights and participation It also includes data tables for the Human Development Index HDI which measures key social and economic indicators for rich and poor countries including life expectancy health and sanitation employment rights gender equality education and income per person      Human Development Report 1990 United Nations Development Programme, 1990 First in a series of annual reports this volume is about people and about how development enlarges their choices access to income long life knowledge political freedom personal security community participation and guaranteed human rights It measures human development not by the yardstick of income alone but by the human development index reflecting life expectancy literacy and command over resources to enjoy a decent standard of living The report analyzes the record of human development for the last three decades and the experience of 14 countries in managing economic growth and human development The volume concludes with human development indicators for more than 130 countries both developing and developed ISBN 0 19 306481 X pbk 15 95 Human Development Report 1999 ,

Human Development Report 1994 United Nations Development Programme,1994 This is the fifth edition of the Human Development Report Each edition includes a section on a specific issue in human development and this issue focuses on a new development paradigm As with previous editions it provides unique tables updated and derived from a set of Human Development indicators

Arctic Human Development Report Joan Nymand Larsen,Gail Fondahl,2015-02-18 The goals of the second volume of the AHDR Arctic Human Development Report Regional Processes and Global Linkages are to provide an update to the first AHDR 2004 in terms of an assessment of the state of Arctic human development to highlight the major trends and changes unfolding related to the various issues and thematic areas of human development in the Arctic over the past decade and based on this assessment to identify policy relevant conclusions and key gaps in knowledge new and emerging Arctic success stories The production of AHDR II on the tenth anniversary of the first AHDR makes it possible to move beyond the baseline assessment to make valuable comparisons and contrasts across a decade of persistent and rapid change in the North It addresses critical issues and emerging challenges in Arctic living conditions quality of life in the North global change impacts and adaptation and Indigenous livelihoods The assessment contributes to our understanding of the interplay and consequences of physical and social change processes affecting Arctic residents quality of life at both the regional and global scales It shows that the Arctic is not a homogenous region Impacts of globalization and environmental change differ within and between regions between Indigenous and non Indigenous northerners between genders and along other axes

Human Development Report 2005 United Nations Development Programme,2005 The Human Development Report 2005 examines the scale of the challenge facing the world at the start of the ten year countdown to the 2015 Millennium Development Goals mark The Report focuses on three pillars of cooperation each of which is in urgent need of renovation The first pillar is international aid the Millennium Development Goals MDGs project has been compromised by chronic and sustained under financing allied to problems in aid quality The second pillar is international trade Under the right conditions trade can act as a powerful catalyst for human development The development round of World Trade Organization talks launched in 2001 provided northern governments with an opportunity to create those conditions The third pillar is that of security violent conflict is a source of systematic human rights violation and a barrier to progress towards the MDGs that must be overcome

Human Development Report 1998 United Nations Development Programme, Human Development Report 2007/2008 United Nations Development Programme,2015-12-29 This year s Human Development Report explains why we have less than a decade to change course and start living within our global carbon budget and how climate change will create long run low human development traps pushing vulnerable people into a downward spiral of deprivation Tamil Nadu, Human Development Report Social Science Press Staff,2003 This is Tamil Nadu s first Human Development Report Tamil Nadu has fared very well in human development among the States in India It needs to be noted however that there are vast variations in the indicators of Human development within the State itself Factors contributing to human development are disaggregated in this Report and analysed at the district level This will enable readers to understand the regional disparities in Tamil Nadu and the reasons behind them The Report not only puts within one cover all the various aspects of human development in Tamil Nadu but also seeks to explain why the State has fared well in certain areas and not in others It also highlights the policy interventions that will be required to correct the imbalances

Maharashtra Human Development Report 2012: TOWARDS INCLUSIVE HUMAN DEVELOPMENT Jayachandran Usha,Kurian, Oommen C,Suryanarayana M. H.,D. P. Singh,Anuja Jayaraman,2014 The present Maharashtra Human Development Report MHDR 2012 keeps the spirit of the Eleventh and Twelfth Five Year Plans of faster sustainable and more inclusive growth at the core of its analysis MHDR 2002 was the state s first effort in focusing on the prevailing human development scenario in the spheres of growth poverty equity education health and nutrition Since then the state has come a long way in the last decade achieving near complete enrolments at the primary school level a wide coverage of health infrastructure and initiation of new incentives to name a few The 2012 Report goes beyond being just a situation analysis of the current human development scenario to a more analytical exercise in facilitating a deeper understanding of what and where the inequalities are how capabilities can be enhanced what has been the progress where the shortfalls are and where the thrust of efforts to promote human development should be Recognizing the centrality of inclusive growth processes to human development the need to study human development outcomes disaggregated by gender rural urban regional and social groups is the focal point of this Report The outcome would be the identification of specific human development goals evidence based policy recommendations and directions to how those excluded from the growth and human development processes can be included to reap the benefits of the same

Human Green Development Report 2014 Xiaoxi Li,2014-10-10 This exhaustive survey assesses the performance of the United Nations and its member states in all key areas at the same time as laying down a road map for sustainable development in the future Deploying the Human Green Development Index as a new metric for an era in which human survival is intimately dependent on the viability of the Earth as a clean and sustainable habitat the report showcases a vast array of data including HGDI indicators for more than 120 nations It provides a detailed and comparative rationale for the selection of data for the 12 goals and 54 HGDI targets which cover human and global needs into the future The index measures 12 Sustainable Development Goals based on but also extending the eight Millennium Development Goals defined in 2000 The SDGs proposed by a high level UN panel will supersede MDGs in 2015 They focus on ending poverty achieving gender equality providing quality education for all helping people live healthy lives securing sustainable energy use and creating jobs offering sustainable livelihoods They also work towards equitable growth stable and peaceful societies greater efficiency in governance and closer international cooperation With indicators covering everything from air particulates to percentage of threatened animal species in a nation s total and informed by the latest research with inequality adjusted metrics for amenities such as education and healthcare this comprehensive study offers readers not only a wealth of valuable core data but also a well argued rationale for using the HGDI In today s world we cannot view our development as being distinct from and unaffected by that of the Earth we inhabit or that of our planetary cohabitants

Human Development Report Mongolia 1997 Shahin Yaqub et al, This groundbreaking Mongolian Human Development Report the country s first went beyond just chronicling Mongolia s state of development in statistics and graphs It placed the story of the Mongolian people during the transition years post 1989 at its heart using photographs stories and case studies to detail the bigger narrative at play The Report was edited designed laid out and printed in Mongolia Rather than following the example of other countries where reports are sent to outside publishers robbing countries of the opportunity to pick up modern publishing skills and to reap the economic benefits the Human Development Report Mongolia benefited Mongolian publishing

Reflections on Human Development Mahbub ul Haq, 1995-08-17 This work explores a new development paradigm whose central focus is on human well being Increase in income is treated as an essential means but not as the end of development and certainly not as the sum of human life Development policies and strategies are discussed which link economic growth with human lives in various societies The book also analyzes the evolution of a new Human Development Index which is a far more comprehensive measure of socio economic progress of nations than the traditional measure of Gross National Product For the first time a Political Freedom Index is also presented The book offers a new vision of human security for the twenty first century where real security is equated with security of people in their homes their jobs their communities and their environment The book discusses many concrete proposals in this context including a global compact to overcome the worst aspects of global poverty within a decade key reforms in the Bretton Woods institutions of World Bank and IMF and establishment of a new Economic Security Council within the United Nations

An Analysis of Mahbub Ul Haq's Reflections on Human Development Riley Quinn, 2017-07-05 What is the ultimate goal of any human society There have been many answers to this question But by producing a series of notably well structured arguments economist Mahbub ul Haq s Reflections on Human Development persuaded readers that the goal should be defined quite simply as the requirement that each society improve the lives of its citizens. If this is the agreed aim, Haq continues, then economic development should be designed to support human development. His well-structured reasoning helped development economists recalibrate much of what had previously been regarded as self-evident: that economic productivity was the main barometer of social well-being. The work had a profound effect, and Haq's thinking helped produce a new understanding of what development actually meant. Haq conscientiously mapped out arguments and counter-arguments to persuade readers that development did not simply mean an increase in productivity but rather an increase in human development—the capability of people to live the lives they want to. By bringing the abstract back to the concrete, Haq reevaluated the neoliberal reasoning that suggested economic development necessarily benefitted everybody. And by virtue of his strong command of reasoning, Haq showed how economic development provided no guarantees that rich people would spend money on improving health, education, or other human development outcomes for the poor.

Human Development and Global Institutions Richard Ponzio, Arunabha Ghosh, 2016-02-05

This book provides a timely and accessible introduction to the foundational ideas associated with the human development school of thought. It examines its conceptual evolution during the post-colonial era and discusses how various institutions of the UN system have tried to engage with this issue, both in terms of intellectual and technical advance and operationally. Showing that human development has had a profound impact on shaping the policy agenda and programming priorities of global institutions, it argues that human development has helped to preserve the continued vitality of major multilateral development programs, funds, and agencies. It also details how human development faces new risks and threats caused by political, economic, social, and environmental forces, which are highlighted in a series of engaging case studies on trade, water, energy, the environment, democracy, human rights, and peacebuilding. The book also makes the case for why human development remains relevant in an increasingly globalized world while asking whether global institutions will be able to sustain political and moral support from their member states and powerful non-state actors. It argues that fresh new perspectives on human development are now urgently needed to fill critical gaps across borders and entire regions. A positive, forward-looking agenda for the future of global governance would have to engage with new issues such as the Sustainable Development Goals, energy transitions, resource scarcity, and expansion of democratic governance within and between nations. Redefining the overall nature and specific characteristics of what constitutes human progress in an increasingly integrated and interdependent world, this book serves as a primer for scholars and graduate students of international relations and development. It is also relevant to scholars of economics, political science, history, sociology, and women's studies.
