

1. Read the report and answer the questions:

Rhino poaching is increasing.

A bloody battle rages between government and the mafia-poaching of rhinos. About 250 rhinos were hunted in 2010. "Traffic", a network conservation market, the company that monitoring living natural resources, had earlier indicated that poaching in 2008 had dramatically increased. This is attributed to a rising demand for rhino horn demand in Asian markets. The selling- price of rhino horn is up to R429 000. In 2005 a Vietnam government official claimed rhino horn healed him from cancer. In China rhino horn is still in used in traditional medicine. 16th Century Li shih Chen a pharماسist wrote that rhino horn could heal snake-bite, headache and vomiting.

Stop poaching!

Suggestions: The rhino's horn must be sawn off when they are young. Technology can also be used to implant a "Pro Tag Device" in the horn. The rhino's movement pattern can be followed and if there is a change there will be an alarm in form as a SMS message, being sent to the control system. The law enforcers say the punishment for poachers must be imprisonment and not be fined. More armed patrols and resources are required to stop poachers.

Operation Lock and the War on Rhino Poaching John Hanks, 2015 The definitive account of a daring and controversial covert operation to stop the aggressive illegal trade in rhino horn in the 1980s

Rhino Poaching Janina Naef, 2016 Rhino horn is very popular in Asia as it is a status symbol and used as medicine That is one reason why the number of these animals is decreasing continuously In 2007 13 rhinos were poached in South Africa while in 2015 the number increased to 1175 rhinos This Matura Paper deals with problems of rhino poaching in South Africa It poses into the question if it is still possible to see rhinos in the future and examines what should be done to save this species from extinction Therefore 5 theses has been stated which consist of political financial protection measures and enlightenment of local and Asian people Thereby an interview has been conducted with a conservationist in addition to research in a volunteering project in South Africa regarding these theses The results prove the problems already stated If there are no changes in one of these problems the rhino doubtfully has a future

Africa's Threatened Rhinos Keith Somerville, 2025-01-14 Africa s surviving rhinos are under serious threat Poaching for their horns massive extermination by sports hunters in the nineteenth and first half of the twentieth century and progressive habitat loss have all driven black and white rhino close to the edge This book considers human interactions with these magnificent and enigmatic animals charting hunting for food and hides and then hunting for horn to meet external demand for this much coveted commodity as well as peaceful coexistence over the course of three millennia With only two females alive in a closely protected reserve in Kenya the Northern White Rhino is on the brink of extinction The Southern White Rhino was increasing in numbers but poaching in South Africa Botswana and Namibia has now reduced the population to fewer than 20 000 while Black Rhino are hovering around the 6 000 6 500 mark also with the danger of extirpation everywhere but in parts of eastern and southern Africa Many books have been written on poaching and the decline of the rhino often from a very personal engaged viewpoint This volume takes the reader into important new territory showing how human agency has led to the situation we now face Covering the history of commercial and sporting exploitation of rhino it brings the picture up to date with an overview of contemporary conservation and anti poaching operations This urgent work is a significant contribution to our understanding of wildlife on the African continent Four Years for the Rhino

Jordaan,2018 During the last ten years the rhino populations of South Africa have suffered under an intense poaching onslaught This onslaught has moved to the Free State Province of South Africa and there is a justified concern that its rhino populations are at risk To protect the rhinos in the Province a need exists to manage the risk of poaching through a practical rhino anti poaching model which can assist to protect them effectively This Rhino Anti Poaching Model can determine and predict a poaching risk can identify weaknesses can assist to address problem areas and will enable efficient monitoring It is imperative to know which rhino species occurred in the Free State Province in historical times to ensure that the correct rhino species is protected against the risk of poaching and that they be kept in a suitable habitat Nine farms in the Free State have rhino as a prefix in their names which may be an indication that rhino did occur in the Province Various historical photos and literature give a retrospective view and show that there was insufficient browsing vegetation for black rhinos to survive The occurrence of open grassland however suggests that white rhinos did occur in those specific areas during the time of the first pioneers During this study period a count of rhinos was done and currently there are 669 white rhinos and 11 black rhinos in the Province thus a total of 680 rhinos in the Free State Province The South African Constitution mandated the State to enforce measures that will ensure adequate environmental protection for the benefit of future generations The South African government promulgated a myriad of new environmental legislation Several international agreements were also introduced as enforcement tools to regulate rhinos The enforcement measures are noble but out of balance with many inspectors but too few law enforcement officials It also over regulates and ensnare officials in minor issues A brief discussion on the latest technological innovations gives insight to the purpose of its development and effectiveness in combating rhino poaching There are currently no technical or strategic solutions to save rhinos from poaching therefore a combination of techniques is needed Although self manufactured unconventional devices seem to be more efficient to deceive poachers a combination with the latest technological equipment and conventional strategies might be the best solution to counter rhino poaching Free State rhino farmers own 90% of the Province s rhinos However these rhino farmers lack the appropriate security measures required to adequately protect their rhinos A questionnaire was developed and data were collected providing statistics on the current stance of security measures on rhino sites in the Province It showed that 80% of rhino poaching occurs in rhino camps bordering public roads 69% of the rhino sites located within 20km from the nearest town reported poaching and 77% of large rhino camps are prone to poaching incidents 57% of the respondents experienced rhino poaching on their sites Through the questionnaire it was gathered that rhino farmers in the Province are not vested in the concept of using trained rhino security A Production Loss Formula was constructed that calculates the production loss of a poached rhino

Death and

Destruction Richard Wayne Charlton, 2017 The poaching of wildlife has been a concern to many involved in the protection of wildlife Poaching is found throughout the world and has been around for thousands of years In the past century poaching has reached new heights and the concern of an extinction of a species has brought the topic of poaching to new light Whilst poaching has been seen as a biological or conservation topic in the past criminologists around the world have now started to delve into the topic The poaching of wildlife and more so in recent years rhino poaching has been a concern in South Africa South Africa has seen an increase in rhino poaching in the past 8 years where over 4 000 rhinos have been slaughtered This

Predictive Policing in an Endangered Species Context Hildergarde Suzanne Koen,2017 Approximately three rhinos are poached daily in South Africa Rhino poaching is a serious problem that a ects not only the rhino population of South Africa but also the rhino population of the world South Africa has the largest rhino population and of those rhinos the largest number can be found in the Kruger National Park KNP The KNP has been hit the hardest by the poaching epidemic losing 1 175 rhinos in 2015 alone Two big challenges are the size of the park and the unknown locations of both the poachers and new poaching events The KNP is the size of a small country and there are simply not enough rangers to patrol this area e ectively A costly solution would be to employ more rangers but a proposed alternative is to reduce the search space and thus ensure that the rangers are allocated to the high risk areas first A mathematical model was developed in the form of a Bayesian network BN to infer the most important factors contributing to poaching events and to model the rhino poaching problem This model can be used to predict the area in which a future poaching attack could take place and thereby reduce the search area of rangers The model also serves as a vehicle to enhance the understanding of the problem and encourage reasoning and discussion amongst decision makers The map of the KNP is divided into cells and each cell is given a poaching probability based on the outcome of the BN This probability map forms a heat map that can be shown to the control centre and rangers can then be sent to the respective hotspots on the map This is a proactive approach which is in stark contrast to the numerous reactive approaches attempted thus far This is the first BN modelling approach to the rhino poaching problem and it is also the first BN application to wildlife crime Previous applications of BN have only gone so far as environmental modelling but not wildlife crimes In this study the rhino poaching problem was shifted from a complex ill structured space to a position where researchers can begin to address the underlying problems by using a causal model as the vehicle for understanding the complex interplay between the factors affecting poaching events Analysis of Rhino Poaching in KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa ,2011
