Empty Mills Timothy J. Minchin, 2012-12-16 With the economy struggling there has been much discussion about the effects of deindustrialization on American manufacturing While the steel and auto industries have taken up most of the spotlight the textile and apparel industries have been profoundly affected In Empty Mills Timothy Minchin provides the first book length study of how both industries have suffered since WWII and the unwavering efforts of industry supporters to prevent that decline In 1985 the textile industry accounted for one in eight manufacturing jobs and unlike the steel and auto industries more than fifty percent of the workforce was women or minorities In the last four decades over two million jobs have been lost in the textile and apparel industries alone as more and more of the manufacturing moves overseas Impeccably well researched providing information on both the history and current trends Empty Mills will be of importance to anyone interested in economics labor the social historical as well as the economic significance of the decline of one of America's biggest industries American Lumberman, 1912 The American Presidents, Washington to Tyler Robert A. Nowlan, 2014-01-10 As of 2012 only 43 men have held the office of the President of the United States Some have been sanctified and some reviled This historical work addresses the careers of the first ten presidents men who made vital contributions not only to the office of the presidency but to the course of the fledgling nation From Washington through Tyler every term is recounted in detail and each presidential profile provides as many as a hundred quotations with full source notes by the president his friends family historians and others Each profile ends with an extensive bibliography of books about the president his principles and policies and also provides suggestion for further reading Rigorously nonpartisan in approach this detail rich text describes the early years of what may well be one of the most demanding jobs in the world
